School Cuts To Draw Crowds To Meeting

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Tuesday meeting of the Grass Lake Grade School Board was expected to draw a capacity crowd of parents and teachers to delve into the alternatives to the recent approval of $50,000 in cuts in staff and school programs.

In April the board cut out the hot lunch program, the services of a full-time social studies teacher and art and remedial reading teachers, as well as two full-time cooks.

Groups of parents have been up in arms since the announced cuts and at the last crowded meeting of the board, a parent posed 22 questions to the board.

Board members promised to answer these questions at the May 12 meeting.

One group of parents, "The Citizens and Taxpayers for the Continuation of Quality Education at Grass Lake School" has been working towards getting a referendum calling for a tax rate increase in the education fund put on the November ballot.

Other alternatives that have already been proposed and were expected to be important parts of the discussion at Tuesday's meeting were the possibilities of a cash bond sale, and the possibility of consolidation with another school district.

A few years ago, the Grass Lake Board turned down a proposed consolidation with Lotus School.

Other questions that parents had planned to ask at Tuesday's meeting included ones concerning certain spending practices of the board and the merits of having a part-time superintendent versus the present full-time superintendent.

Supt. Anthony Przeklasa has stated that the school may be in need of more than the $50,000 to be saved by the cuts in light of the predicted thousands of dollars to be lost because of state budget cuts if the governor does not get the tax increase he has asked for.

Antioch Man's Body Turns Up On Chicago Beach

The body of Robert Loftus, 25, Antioch, was washed up at Montrose Harbor in Chicago on Friday.

Loftus had been reported missing on March 30 by his mother Rita Loftus with whom he was living. She told police he had gone out to get something and had not returned.

Shortly afterwards, the Chicago Police Dept. had contacted the mother because her car and her son's dog were found abandoned near the Montrose Harbor. She told police that he might have gone to visit friends in Chicago. She did not know the names of these friends.

Chicago police found a drivers license issued to Robert Loftus in the pocket of the clothing found on the badly decomposed body.

According to Lt. Tom Fisher, the body was identified as Robert Loftus through dental records provided by a dentist in the Heritage Bldg.

The Chicago Police Dept.'s report has drowning as the cause of death. That department is continuing the investigation.

Fields: Work On Mending 12 To 12 Split

by GLORIA DAVIS

Trying to mend the 12-12 split in the county board will be new Lake County Board Chairman Jim Fields' first priority.

Fields, member of the Lake County Board for six years and Antioch Twp. supervisor, took office on May 5, after a marathon 25 hours when 139 ballots were cast. Fields was elected unanimously and took office on the same day. His term will run until December of 1988. Fields is up for reelection to the county board in November of 1988.

"First I'll work on straightening out the county board and then let the board work for the county," said Fields.

Fields expects to spend the entire morning at the county building working on board business most working days. He said that he will try to be out at the Antioch Twp. Hall by 2 p.m. on most afternoons.

"At least I won't have to attend committee meeting which used to take a lot of my time," said Fields, adding, "I'll probably be in at the county about twice as much as before."

"I hope I can get the 24-member board to pull together from now on. Maybe the fact that they all voted for me might give me a head start," he added.

One of the first orders of business will be to select six members for the new Committee On Committee, one board member from each district, three from the majority and three from the minority.

The idea of this major committee is to keep the county board from coming to political blows in public by working out any differences behind closed doors and set up the structure of the five other county board committees.

Previously the board chairman had this job. The board should pass a resolution adopting the Committee On Committee on Tuesday and all systems should be go inside of two weeks.

Swim Team's Season Starts

The Antioch Swim Team is ready to start a new season.

The team will again be coached by Frank Bessette, with assistant coach, Debbie Amson, a former Olympic gymnast.

Registration will be held at the Antioch Aqua Center, Rte. 83, just behind the Antioch Scout House. Sign-up is from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday, May 23 and May 30.

Fees are $30 for the first child, $20 for a second child and $15 for each additional family member.

There is also a diving class, coached by Amson, for an additional $15 fee.

The season runs from June 9 through July 27. For more information, call Donna Ryan at (312)395-1052 or Patti Murphy, (312)395-5210.

To Present Final Concert

The Antioch High School Choral Dept. will present its final concert of the season at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 14, in the high school auditorium.

This concert will feature the artistry of violinist Sue Kim.

Kim, a freshman at Antioch High School, will perform "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso" by Saint Saens. The show choir, Madrigals and Men with Glasses will perform as well as an Honors Quartet which sang in a select choir at the University of Illinois earlier this year.

Anyone who hasn't been to a choral concert before and who has stopped attending concerts when their son or daughter graduated, should come to the spring choral concert and find out what they've been missing.

Tickets may be obtained from choir members or purchased at the door.

Salute With Events

Governor James Thompson has proclaimed May 10-16 as Small Business Week in Illinois, in recognition of the vital contributions small businesses make to the state's economy.

"Small businesses are the backbone of the Illinois economy," Thompson said. "Small businesses employ more than 90 percent of Illinois' workers. In fact, more than 98 percent of Illinois companies refer to themselves as small businesses."

"These small business people are the innovators who create the jobs of the future. During Small Business Week, we recognize their tremendous contribution to the well-being of all of the citizens of our state."

More than 150 events were scheduled across the state to coincide with both the Illinois and national celebration of Small Business Week. Chambers of Commerce, Small Business Development Centers, elected officials and other individuals and organizations have planned seminars, conferences and programs aimed at the small business community. The Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs compiled the "20/20 Calendar of Celebration" listing the various events and to alert business people throughout Illinois to special programs in their area.

Illinois has programs geared toward helping high-tech companies, assisting minority- and female-owned enterprises and providing innovative financing which are often cited as national models for small business assistance. Small business development centers, located at community college, universities and Chambers of Commerce throughout the state, provide small business owners with easy access to services. Procurement Assistance Centers and Technology Commercialization Centers also provide important services to Illinois entrepreneurs.

Further information on Small Business Week and Illinois programs to assist small businesses is available by calling the Illinois Small Business Hotline at (800)252-2923.

Board Approves Gas Co-Op

Millburn School Dist. 24, in a cost-saving measure, has decided to join a gasoline co-op.

The Millburn Board of Education agreed to join the co-op in its regular April meeting.

The board also approved a request from the Millburn Historic Assn. for a bus and driver to transport association members to Milwaukee for a visit to a museum. In a related transportation matter, the board approved the transporting of students and chaperones to Springfield by the Deerfield Transportation Co.

In administrative reports, principal Gary Cybul reported on the 'Young Astronauts' science program and the Springfield trip. Supt. Lee Smithey reported on current building status, reporting that a rise in interest rates and possible effects. Smithey also discussed information from the Institutew for Public Management service for school accountability.

In committee reports, the planning committee recommended the hiring of Legat Architects to work with school when considering future building.

The May Millburn school board meeting will be held May 18 at 7 p.m.

Protest Fails To Stop Ski School Opening

A rising tide of protest has failed to dampen plans for opening a water ski school this Friday on Long Lake.

"My intent is to open the school May 15," said Roger Kring, adding, "I haven't been told by anyone in authority that it's illegal." He even said that his understanding is that Lake County Commissioners approve of it.

Foes have launched a petition drive against the school, claiming that it would endanger boating and add to congestion on the lake.

Viewpoint surfaced at a public meeting May 8 that commercial activity is unwelcome on Long Lake. It is private, according to the Illinois Dept. of Transportation (IDOT) classification and nearly all residential.

IDOT confirmed that it was private to Alberta Miller, supervisor of Grant Twp.

But Kring disagrees: "My understanding is that it's not a private lake," he said May 11, but speculated that even if it were private, a local authority would control business.

Kring, of Wonder Lake, McHenry County, is founder and operator of Water Skiing Centers of Northern Illinois.

He plans to operate the Long Lake school from the Frigate Restaurant, Long Lake, located on Rollins Rd. between Fairfield Rd. and Wilson Rd.

May 30, he intends to open a second outlet at Cypress Shores Resort, Petite Lake, 25621 W. Herman Ave., Antioch.

He said that he plans to offer very professional services with the goal of providing "satisfying water skiing experience with safety and encouragement."

The school will offer 15 instructors qualified by the American Water Ski Association, he added.

Regarding reaction to the school, he said that he has discussed his plans widely and is well aware of the concern.

Opponents are "trying to protect turf from the outside," he said, but added that he has a different viewpoint.

Concern has arisen that the school will lower property values, he said, however he refuted that claim. "The clientele are certainly not low income," said, because the hourly fees will be $60.

Meanwhile, about 35 persons attended a meeting Friday, May 8, of Long Lake Improvement and Sanitation at Grant Town Hall.

They discussed various facets of the problem, including that the county could control operation if Lake County Building Official Robert Streicher issues a permit for his trailer which was red-tagged. Bringing this idea was Sander Sundberg, group president.

Kring said that while his trailer was red-tagged (it violates building and zoning regulations), County Building Official Bob Streicher has said that he'd grant a special permit because the trailer is used only for an office and to house equipment. He said that the school would close Sept. 15.

Streicher said that he's looking into the feasibility of issuing a temporary permit under special events. This means that Kring will have to comply with certain regulations and the sheriff can inspect the premises for health and safety at any time.

He noted that the place is zoned commercial which would allow for the operation of a business like a ski school.

Streicher conferred with Fred Foreman, state's attorney, on Tuesday.

The building official has also noted that if the school has legal access to the water of Long Lake, all its waters can be used for teaching water skiing.

The group also discussed that construction cost might not make the school cost-effective if the trailer is found to be illegal.

Kevin Benton, a resident, recommended pursuing other means of opposition, saying, "I think we should explore avenues of opposing the school other than building and zoning."

The group also discussed continuing the petition drive, but Sundberg noted that it's a citizen and not an association effort.

Those present also felt it necessary to get information on the legal requirements of the school.

William Kercher, a board member, moved to appropriate $1,000 for the purpose of initial legal fees and his motion carried unanimously.

John Sloan, a Waukegan attorney, was retained to make legal inquiry into the matter as of Monday, May 11.

Regarding possible regulation, The Illinois Dept. of Conservation has no control or requirements for a water ski school other than proper registration of tow boats.

Chief Trinski of the Lake County Sheriff's Office reports that the on-water operation of the water ski school must be done in a "safe" manner. He questions if this can be done on Long Lake and plans to keep a close eye on the school.

Kring, meanwhile, said that on June 14 he'll be teaching blind snow skiers to water ski, starting at 9 a.m.

He added that he's also becoming qualified as a merit badge counselor for Northern Illinois.

Meanwhile, an informal meeting was held May 11 between Mr. and Mrs. Kring and interested persons.

Attending were Tom, Ralph and Joe Sabatini, Sundberg, Bob Woods, Jay Barber, Kevin Benton and Michael Gregory.

Ralph said that the Sabatinis have been located on the lake since 1947 and "are interested only in its betterment."

He added that "the school will be a professional business and be monitored at all times," saying, "it won't hurt the tranquility of the lake."

Joe said that a bomb scare occurred at the Frigate May 8 and he thinks it was related to the school controversy.

Report said that a bomb would explode at 11 p.m., and the restaurant was closed while deputies searched. It was reopened at 11:30 p.m.

The group noted that it deplored the bomb scare as well as telephone threats.

Difficult Days For Fields

As a compromise candidate, Dist. 4 Rep. James "Jim" Fields will be carrying more than the usual amount of burden as he assumes his new job as chairman of the Lake County Board along with representing the townships of Antioch, Lake Villa, Grant and Avon Twps. and serving as Antioch Twp. supervisor.

Fields, never known as a dynamic leader, nor as a compelling personality, has acquired a position of considerable experience in local government and respect because of an ability to fit well with a variety of varying viewpoints and a knack to be on stage but never in the spotlight. Ironically, Fields has been thrust into the limelight of leadership because his soft-spoken style and malleable approach to government was seen as being comfortable by the varying factions of the bombastic and highly political County Board.

Even before Fields got acquainted with the chairman's desk, talk was circulating about a movement to make the chairman's post elective. With the 1990 census approaching, a benchmark at which the chairman's role could be altered. Fields will be dealing with a distraction his predecessors never had to face. He is inheriting pressures from all sides to solve the county's solid waste disposal problem. There is mounting discontent with the way the county deals with building and zoning problems--or doesn't deal in unincorporated areas. There are hints that the county jail addition will be engulfed with huge cost overruns, adding to ever-present finance and budget headaches. In an area where developers are gobbling up agricultural land every day, open space problems can only intensify. As a compromise candidate, the new chairman will find himself squarely in the middle of the ongoing battle between regular Republicans and an opposing coalition. County Board representatives can turn a purchase of paper clips into a political dogfight. That's the kind of atmosphere in which Fields will be called to referee--and the lead.

Life is certain to be more difficult for Chairman Fields. We congratulate him and wish him well.

Taxing Our Patience

Spend and tax. That is the classic formula that brought Democrats to grief on the national scene in the last few decades. People got tired of taxes taking an ever-higher portion of their weekly paycheck for programs in which the performance never quite matched the promise.

Illinois Democrats have the same spend and tax mentality as their national brethren. Unfortunately, so do Illinois Republicans.

Gov. James Thompson, rumored to be a Republican, has proposed one of the largest tax increases in Illinois history. He seeks to raise the annual license fee for cars and pickup trucks by $17 to a total of $65. He seeks a 30 percent increase in license fees for other trucks. He seeks a 9.5 cent per gallon increase in motor fuel taxes, raising the gasoline tax to 22.5 cents per gallon and the diesel fuel tax to 25 cents per gallon.

Lt. Gov. George Ryan will surely get an earful when he comes to Waukegan on May 21 to conduct a public hearing on the tax proposals. Ryan will appear at the Waukegan City Hall Council Chamber at 7 p.m.

For two consecutive elections, the governor has told us that the state's finances were in fine shape before the election. After election day, he has come back with the bad news; the state's finances are not in such good shape after all.

Illinois voters are not stupid. In this last election, practically no one believed Thompson was telling the truth about state finances. The governor simply had the good fortune of running twice against Adlai Stevenson, a political accident waiting to happen.

For the last two gubernatorial elections Illinois voters have had to choose between the spend and tax candidate and the spend and tax candidate.

Next time, we hope voters have a better choice than the Democrat who says he is and the Democrat who says he isn't.

No White House Privacy

As a former newspaper publisher and a public figure with a keener than average appreciation of the watchdog role of the press, U. S. Sen. Paul Simon made a somewhat surprising comment about U.S. Sen. Gary Hart's bowing out of the White House quest in the wake of a mounting infidelity scandal sparked by reporters' investigations.

Simon, who is dividing his time now between serving the people of Illinois and his own quest for the White House, observed rightfully that the public at large suffers when a leader like Hart is openly defrocked. The redoubtable Democrat from downstate observed, in addition, that the press should well draw the line in pursuit of what the public ought to know about a public figure's private life.

That view was surprising, indeed, as Sen. Simon should well know from his considerable study of history that the higher one ascends in politics the more public all facets of life become. Paul Simon knows, as well as Gary Hart, that certain lifestyles "go" back in the courthouse, the state house or even Congress. But not the White House!

No speck of privacy is permitted by the press--or the American people--in the White House or those who seek to occupy the highest office in the land. That's the way it is and that's the way it should be. Interestingly, Simon should be the major beneficiary of Hart's departure.

Motel Overnight Becoming Part Of Prom Program

by BILL SCHROEDER

More adventuresome youths have added a new wrinkle to their prom schedule--motel overnights.

Sad to report, but for some of the kids the prom routine of fancy outfits, flowers, dinner, dancing, staying out late and picnicking with friends the next day apparently doesn't have sufficient excitement anymore. A night in a motel has been added to the agenda.

Motels in the Chicago-Milwaukee area with no-questions-asked-reservations policies have been booking rooms for prom-goers. Clerks at Hawthorn and Lakehurst shopping centers reported that teenage girls have been buying lingerie to make the overnight complete.

Chaperones and parents have been looking the other way for a long time on pre-prom cocktail parties. Isn't it about time that they start finding out where the kids are and what they're doing?

Don't blame the kids. They'll test and try until an adult starts asking questions. Blame the parents. Maybe I'm old-fashioned, but I don't think promgoers belong in motel rooms. Run the dance longer and start the picnic earlier, kids, if you want to put in a night without sleep. If proms aren't fun anymore, maybe they should be abandoned!

MAIL CALL--Writing about our tongue-in-cheek editorial suggesting that Lake County should exact some tribute from Waste Management like Kane County's $1.2 million grant, Sharlene Hink of Mundelein had this to say: "Your stupidity is only exceeded by your naivete."

Comment: Always nice to hear from fans.

PET CORNER--Mr. and Mrs. Frank Luciano, who shuttle back and forth between Heather Ridge and Florida, sent along the enclosed photo from the local animal world with the suggested title, "What's cooking."

Dog Gone Housekeeping!

Grandma?" The helpful pet is Sasha Blue, owned by their daughter, Jan Luciano of Lake Forest. The Lucianos are retired, but are active Republicans when they set foot on Lake County soil.

SELF-PUNISHMENT--Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox is a bear for punishment. He spent the night on the 10th floor of the county building as County Board representatives plowed their way through the marathon balloting for new chairman. What did you do? How did you stay awake? we inquired. Mickey said he kept the coffee flowing and figured it was his duty to be on hand "if anyone got sick or anything like that." Knowing the sheriff, he also wanted to keep close tabs on the political comings and goings of the august political body. The way things turned out, the sheriff kept close ties to the chairman's office.

GOING TO COLLEGE--The University of Wisconsin-Superior (UWS) is making it possible for pre-college teenagers to get a taste of campus life and study again this summer with its innovative Youthsummer '87. In four one-week sessions, a variety of courses are offered in which young students will receive instruction, lab and field work taught by regular faculty. RETURNS TO DUTY--Robert "Bob" Trinski, former Fox Lake police chief and much-decorated retired member of the Chicago Police Dept., takes over as commander of the Chain O'Lakes detachment of the Lake County Sheriff's Water Patrol Friday, May 15, and he's delighted to be back in harness.

"Retirement isn't what it's cracked up to be," Bob confessed, on returning from the winter months in Florida. "I like to keep busy." His no-nonsense style is expected to bring a new look to water safety on the Chain this summer.

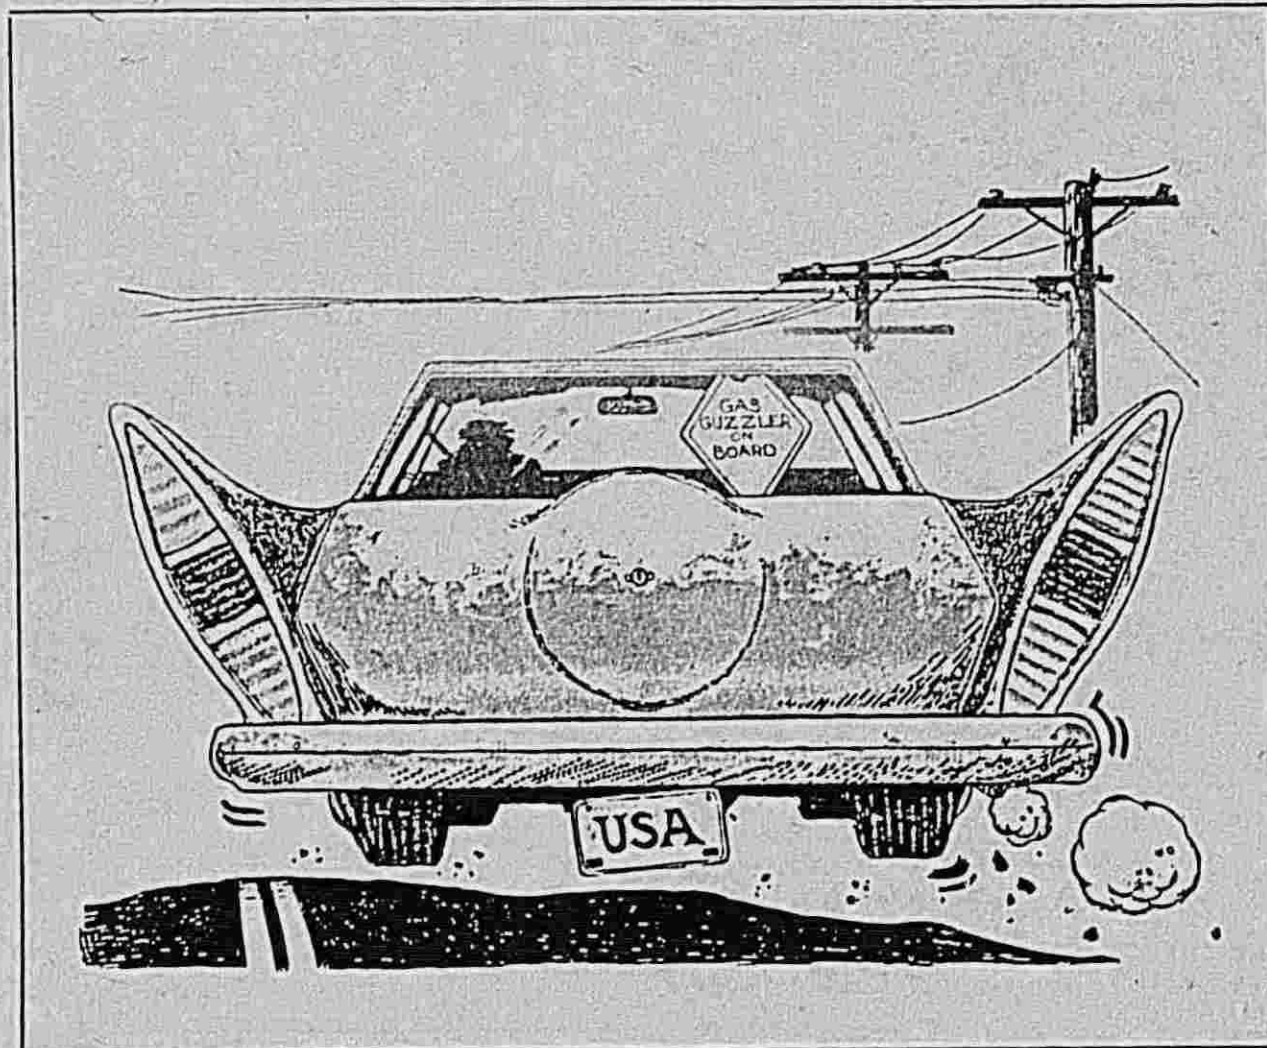

John Soffiotti, chairman of the Chain O'Lakes-Fox River Water Management Agency, applauded Trinski's appointment. "Wherever we go, people tell us they don't want any more laws involving the Chain, just enforcement of existing rules and regulations. That's what we'll have this summer under Chief Trinski," Soffiotti declared. We'll second that.

PUSH FOR TUITION--Sen. Jack Schaffer (R-Crystal Lake) is pushing for legislation that could serve as the framework for a tax-free college tuition investment program for Illinois parents.

Details are expected soon because a task force working on the project is faced with an April 1 deadline. Legislators shouldn't get any argument from parents who now are faced with major indebtedness to get offspring through college, even state institutions where tuition costs are continuing to rise almost as fast as private schools.

Financial advisers now are saying that it's not too early to plan for college even before the baby comes home from the hospital.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY--Sunglasses have about the same life in our household as loose change. Like coins on a foyer table, sunglasses just disappear if left unguarded. Pop is the only one not involved in the continuing search around the house. My tinted lenses make any eye protection unnecessary.

Camp Lions Opens Up New World To Blind, Deaf

Who says that blind and deaf kids can't have as much fun as their sighted and hearing friends at summer camp?

Not 14-year-old Ricky Watts. Ricky, who appears quite normal in all respects is bright, alert and healthy, but he has one problem. He is completely deaf, and sign language is the only means of communication for him.

Likewise, 13-year-old Kim, a slight, active and fun-loving child from the inner-city, is not letting her sight impairment handicap her in the least.

The two are typical of more than 300 youngsters from all over the state who will attend Camp Lions this summer.

Camp Lions is a very special place geared to the needs of the sight or hearing impaired child. The camp, which is operated by the Lions Clubs of Illinois, has two sites, Camp Lions "Ravenswood," located near Lake Villa, which accommodates children from the northern half of the state, and Camp Lions "Touch of Nature," near Carbondale, which takes care of children from Southern Illinois.

But there is one added dimension—the camp is staffed with instructors who are specially trained to work with blind and deaf youngsters.

The children, ages eight to 16, come from all over the state and are of all backgrounds. At the camp, they associate with youngsters who are similarly handicapped and besides liberal doses of fun and recreation, which are typical of the summer camp, they receive special training to help provide the self-confidence and poise they will need as adults.

"There is absolutely no reason why children who are blind and deaf cannot enjoy a summer camp as much as their sighted or hearing friends," said John Bock, of Belleville, chairman of the Lions coordinating committee for Camp Lions.

Bock noted that though similar in operation, "Ravenswood," is more geared to typical camp activities—boating, hiking, etc., while "Touch of Nature" is more adventure-oriented.

"In both camps, children learn more about themselves and the world around them and have fun in the process," he said.

The camp is open to all children with visual or hearing impairments. For classification purposes, a vision impairment is one in the range of between total blindness and 20/200 in both eyes after correction. Children with hearing impairments are eligible if the impairment adversely affects their speech and language development and as a result requires a hearing aid or other means of communication. Campers must also be ambulatory and able to perform self-help skills.

Qualified children can attend either camp. There is no charge for the camp, which is funded from Candy Day proceeds, held statewide the second Friday of October every year and through the generosity of individual Lions, Lions Clubs and other philanthropic individuals. About 320 attend every summer.

At present, applications for camp are being accepted for several sessions as follows: "Ravenswood," July 19 through 31; and "Touch of Nature," July 19 through Aug. 1, and Aug. 2 through 14.

For information, or to apply, contact a local Lions Club or the Lions of Illinois Foundation, 7321 W. Lake St., River Forest, IL 60305.

"This is the 30th year Lions have operated Camp Lions," Bock noted. He estimated during that period more than 12,000 youngsters have attended the camp. Over that period, he continued, the camp has broadened in range to include more activities geared to the requirements of children of varying ages.

With the aid of the children and parents, Lions and the support of thousands of philanthropic individuals, we intend to continue to operate the camp for many more years," he said.

Both camps are fully staffed to provide the kinds of activities one would expect at a summer camp—boating, swimming, hiking, sports and crafts.

Opening New Horizons

A whole new world is opened up to children who attend Camp Lions, as is obvious from these two girls who are engaged in animated conversation. Both are hearing impaired.

Nichols: Use Personality In Choosing Next Career Move

When choosing a career, people should look at their personality first.

That's the opinion of Frank Nichols, a career guidance counselor at the College of Lake County. Nichols discussed career types

"I like to look at careers from an angle of personality," Nichols said.

Nichols, a Gurnee resident and author of books on careers, explained that several factors can determine whether or not one will like his or her work.

"One of the factors is my values. What's important to me. Another is using skills and experiences that you have had. A third is personality. If the career does not match what makes me me, then I'm not going to be happy in what I am doing," he said.

According to the United States Dept. of Labor, there are some 30,000 different career types available. Nichols said most people can name about 200, leaving 29,800 unaccounted for.

Nichols said a career search can be made easier by "clustering categories".

The first group can be classified as "people careers". These are subdivided into "helpers" and "leaders". Helpers would include firemen, policemen, teachers and social workers. Leaders would include business people and lawyers.

A second group of careers has to do with things and data. This cluster, divided into organizers and doers, includes bookkeepers, accountants, and people who like to see the physical result of their labor, according to Nichols.

Under the category of ideas are analyzing and creative careers.

"These people are planners. They like to ask questions and are not interested in doing as much as analyzing. But doers need analyzers," Nichols said.

Nichols said a growing career cluster is technicians, which fall in between analyzers and doers.

Nichols gave the class a personality test in which they answered 70 questions. The answers led to 16 different personality traits or types.

"Instead of competing with one another, it would be nice if we could compliment one another. Through types, you can understand that differences are important and it's what makes life interesting," Nichols said.

Chain O'Lakes Guide Demand Overwhelms

"We never expected the demand for our Chain O'Lakes Recreation Guide to be so overwhelming," said William M. Schroeder, general sales manager of Lakeland Newspapers. "It has only been on the stands for two weeks and already merchants are clamoring for more."

In response to the demand for the guide, Lakeland Newspapers will publish another edition just in time for the Memorial Day weekend.

"Once the guide hit the streets, it was gone within days," said Dennis Mahan, display advertising sales manager.

Grant To Finance Study Of Growth Hormone In Men

"It's not the fountain of youth," said Dr. Velayudhan Nair, professor and dean, School of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies (SGPDS), UHS/CMS, but it may help to alleviate the adverse effects of aging. This statement was made on the occasion when Dr. Daniel Rudman received a second research grant from Eli Lilly Co. to study the role growth hormone plays in successful aging.

Forty-five thousand dollars will be used to study men over the age of 55 who do not have cancer, diabetes or are overweight. They must be deficient in growth hormone.

Dr. Rudman has found that 30 percent of men over 55 have experienced a growth hormone menopause, which causes the body to shut down such functions as maintaining strong bones and muscles, kidney function and hormone secretion.

Before an older man can be enrolled in the study, it must be determined by a blood test that he has become deficient in growth hormone. A physician will then perform an examination to rule out diseases such as cancer, hypertension or diabetes. C.T. Scans, bone and kidney strength tests, cardiogram and blood tests are among the tests to be performed as part of the initial base line study. Only those men who have completed the base line study satisfactorily will be allowed to continue to Phase 2 during which the growth hormone menopause will be corrected by treatment with the pure hormone, synthesized by Eli Lilly.

Men over the age of 55 will be solicited to enroll in the study which will take 18 months to complete. Veterans will be cared for at the affiliated North Chicago VA Medical Center, and non-veterans may be asked to see the investigators at the McCormick Clinic of the Chicago Medical School.

Dr. Rudman said that all interested men should call

Alice in his office, (312) 578-3776, for an appointment to have their blood drawn to determine their growth hormone status. Each patient will be assigned to a physician who will keep him informed about the results of the testing. A complete health evaluation is an important benefit for the men who participate in the study.

Gurnee, County Police Invesigate Gurnee Shooting

Two people who attended a "grad night" at Six Flags Great America were shot at 20 minutes after the park closed early Saturday morning.

Gurnee Police Chief Larry Dluhos said the victims were shot at 1:22 a.m. Saturday. Six individuals were involved, four adults and two juveniles, Dluhos said.

The two people transported to hospitals were Reginald Norwood, 18 and Timothy Pruitt, 18. Norwood was taken to St. Therese Medical Center in Waukegan while Pruitt was taken to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge.

After the incident, park officials announced that a second "grad night" scheduled for May 15.

"I would say it was a good idea," Dluhos said of the cancelation of grad night.

Dluhos said added security is hired for the nights, with Gurnee Police providing beefed up patrols as well.

Dluhos said no charges were filed as of Monday while Gurnee and Lake County Sheriff's Dept. personnel investigate the shooting.

"I can't say for sure it was gang related. They were not wearing any kind of colors that gangs wear," Dluhos said.

The incident occurred in the main bus area. Dluhos said blacks and Puerto Ricans were involved.

Great America, has appeared on numerous Gurnee police reports since it opened as a scene for car burglaries, fights and thefts.

AARP Awards Bock

The Antioch Chapter 387 of the American Assn. of Retired Persons (AARP) met at the Antioch Senior Center on April 28.

At this meeting, Sam Lombardo, president, presented Vickey Bock, community chairperson and her husband, Otto, with the 1987 Community Service Award for their outstanding volunteer service to the community of Antioch.

This award coincides with AARP Volunteer Week, April 26 through May 2, their motto being "To Serve, Not To Be Served."

For the past four years, Bock has been recruiting taggers for the yearly Salvation Army Donut Tag Day which is scheduled for Friday, June 5.

She is also seeking volunteers who can give a few hours during the week to assist the Antioch Chamber of Commerce in answering telephone calls, etc., and she is also a member of the AARP All Star Band and Singers who entertain regularly at hospitals and nursing homes and senior community centers.

Other important projects are assisting the Antioch Historical Museum, filling food baskets for needy families, and having clothing drives to aid the Military Order of the Purple Heart Veterans. The Antioch Rescue Squad is also a recipient of the Antioch AARP Chapters good deeds.

Anyone who can tag for the Salvation Army on Friday, June 5 or who has some time to give to the Antioch Chamber of Commerce for volunteer work should call Bock at (312) 395-1757. She will be happy to give more details.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Talked to Glenda Tomaschik who was very upset because the new spring and summer brochure for the happenings at the parks and recreational department came unlabeled. So if you receive five folded white sheets stapled together, opened them up, don't throw them away or you won't know what's going on in the area of community recreation this summer. If you've already thrown them away and would like another copy or have questions, call Glenda at (312) 395-2160.

Stopped in to see Dolly Spearing at Second Showing last week. Such a talented gal, she's so good at displaying things that she has all that second hand merchandise looking as attractive as the new stuff and her prices are just as attractive.

Heard the old Saturday Afternoon Club from the State Bank had a fun reunion when Shirley Standish was back in town visiting last week. She and Tony (remember Kings Drugs) are still sunning away at their home in Florida.

Wasn't that fashion show the Antioch Women's Club had at the Cottonpicker in Burlington lovely! Speaking of models, that Florence Babusek never gains a pound. Old Annie Mae would really like to know her secret! Laurel Dahl really looked great in those stunning clothes from Country Gentlemen's Women's Casuals.

You just can't please some people! I hear that at last Rotary meeting, Jay Bruske fined my managing editor Charlie Johnston $1 when he didn't see a camera. When Charlie pulled his camera out, Bruske turned around and fined him $2 for having it!

Speaking of the Rotary, congrats to incoming president, Ted Axton. Ted, what were you wearing on your ears at the last meeting?

A great big welcome back to Don Skidmore who had a little bout with his gall bladder that a short stay in the hospital took care of.

Maybe the all male oriented Antioch Lions Club should take heed of what is happening in the Lake Villa-Lindenhurst Lions Club.

Not only are women becoming more and more active as Lions Club members, not Lionesses, but out of 13 new officers and directors, eight are also members of the fairer sex.

Mother Nature Allows Great Antioch Weekend

by CAROLYN HAMMOND
(312) 395-6081

Well, Mother Nature sure came through for us this week. It's not hard to forgive her for the previous zig-zag temperatures after seven days of 70 to 80 degree weatehr. Even the rain seemed a welcome respite, and it came late enough that it didn't ruin any family activities. Thanks, Mom!

Another group wants to thank the citizens of Antioch for their generous support. Century 21-Michael Warren & Co. reports $9,289.59 was raised to benefit the Easter Seals organization.

current fifth grade students who will be attending the school as sixth graders in the fall. Fifth graders and their parents may tour the building at 7 p.m. A slide presentation, introductory talk, and question and answer session will be held in the gym, to be followed by refreshments in the cafeteria.

On Friday, May 15, the Antioch Upper Grade School Student Council will sponsor a spring dance from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The Saturday meeting will include a diet workshop. Cost is $24 per session ($65 for three) payable at the beginning of each session. Anyone may join; senior citizens require a doctor's permission. Disposables OK Until We're Talking People

by GLORIA DAVIS

That saying that "Life is what happens while you're making plans," sums up how often all of our best laid plans go awry.

With this ever-changeable world getting more so by the day, it is getting extremely difficult to plan for tomorrow and especially for those supposed "Golden Years" of retirement.

There was a time when senior citizens thought that they had their future medical bills taken care of with Medicare and a subsidy insurance. Finding a doctor to accept Medicare reimbursement period is getting to be impossible, and the benefits of the subsidy insurances are lessening as the premiums are becoming more and more unaffordable. Meanwhile costs of medicine and hospitals

When I Think About It

For instance, gone are the days when people devote their work life to one company, planning to retire, gold watch, pension and all.

Not only has the gold watch gone the way of the railroad tycoons, but everyday, companies merge bringing in entire new staffs or else they decide to cut costs by getting rid of those with seniority, ergo (op salaries)(loyalty, devotion be damned) in favor of the old bottom line.

Remember when experience and previous accomplishment were important on a business resume! Now that only shows you just might be "too old for the job."

It just doesn't compute when the person holding the most important job in the land is the oldest to ever do so.

How about the poor guy that scraped to go to school to learn a trade just to have that trade eliminated by the electronic age in favor of a machine that never asks for benefits or a raise.

Many couples plan to cut back on their living expenses and all that work of keeping up a house that is now much too big for them by selling their homes after the kids leave.

Since this stage is often reached before mom and dad are 55, the age when a house sale can occur without Uncle Sam eating up all the profits, selling that home before then could cost them thousands of dollars in taxes because they do not want to reinvest in more property. So they go on paying property taxes, upkeep, etc. for a home they no longer need, for years more than they should have to.

are escalating. Solient Green here we come!

Evidently what anybody over 40 needs are flexible future plans.

A person could spend his entire working life salting away every extra cent over the meagerest living expenses and investing it. Then they just might have something to fall back on in case things fall apart.

So whoopie! You'll be able to barely exist during old age. Isn't that a fitting follow-up to such an unexciting life of drudgery!

Or maybe we have to learn to plan a little better by always having another occupation waiting in the wings. While working for 20 years in advertising, one could go to night school and become an aged brain surgeon.

Or everyone could go into business for himself, build the business and sell it at a good profit that will mean a comfortable retirement. Of course every business will have to be a one-man business (or one person and spouse) since there will be no one left to play the part of an employee that can be laid off when they are in their 50s, too young for Social Security and too old to get another job.

Part of this last century of progress is the increase in the invention and use of disposable items, from paper plates, to cigarette lighters, and from diapers to watches.

One of our biggest problems now is finding a way to get rid of the remnants of such items. But the much larger, ever growing problem since companies have changed the "Big P" from people to profits, is the question of what to do with these "disposable people."

Evergreens Require Regimen

Evergreen trees and shrubs are among the most beautiful and versatile of landscape plants. Popular types like cedar, fir, hemlock and juniper form the backbone of nearly every home landscape design.

Together with flowering evergreen shrubs like azalea, camellia and rhododendron, they lend color and eyepleasing symmetry the year round.

Although among the most undemanding of plants, evergreens require a basic regimen of care that includes proper watering, weed control, fertilization and mulch.

The essential ingredient, of course, is water. Water evergreens frequently in dry weather, and always dwater deeply. Shallow watering is actually harmful, as it encourages shallow roots which will be easily damaged in times of drought.

Weed control and proper fertilization are the two most time-consuming chores in landscape plant care. But a simple weed and feed program begun early in spring can save homeowners many hours of work later on.

Mulches are particularly valuable around trees and shrubs. A deep covering of organic mulch like pine bark or wood chips will conserve moisture, protect roots by reducing surface temperatures and enhance weed control.

Mulch also gives beds, borders and tree wells an attractive, finished appearance, and protects trunks and branches from damage by lawnmowers.

New CLC President LaVista Excited About Future

by STEVE PETERSON

"Community colleges are the Ellis Island of higher education," Harry Truman.

Although Truman made that comment when two-year or community colleges were in their infancy, the College of Lake County's new president believes that philosophy holds true at the Grayslake campus today.

"What Truman meant by that was they really stand for education for all people who feel they could profit from it. This is a place where people can go to have their futures really begin. The student may be a person right out of high school, who is looking for part-time education to go along with a job. It could be a person who wants, at least initially, to have a short-term education and they're young people who wish to go onto a baccalaureate program. Your average community college can take in stride service to young people and service to adults," Daniel LaVista said.

LaVista, who beat out more than 60 candidates for the appointment to succeed James O. Hunter, said the college should keep up its relations with area high schools.

"Our more important role is to keep in touch with high schools to make sure we are complimenting their work with young people and that we are making our contribution to combat illiteracy. We should not overlook the fact that just because we are post-secondary that we should not have a relationship with those people," LaVista said.

LaVista comes to CLC after a career in Ohio community colleges. He was vice-president for academic affairs at Cuyahoga Community College in Cleveland. There, he was responsible for leadership, planning, organization, development, executive oversight and fiscal developmental policy and review for the academic degree program.

"I think the experience at Cuyahoga was very useful to me in terms of coming to know the kinds of variations that a community college can be involved in. All junior colleges are community based. Cuyahoga was a school with a great social conscience. It contributed not only to the life of the county, but to the Cleveland public schools, which have had some tough times. The college was deeply involved with the school system in planning, in developing staff development programs with faculty and it was in that setting that my view of the social conscience phenomenon was shaping," he said.

The Cleveland school's biggest difference from CLC is its size. Cuyahoga has three campuses, 40 educational sites, an enrollment of 20,000 students and an $82 million budget.

LaVista said the most noticeable aspect of CLC was what he saw matched with what he read.

"What I was able to learn quickly was there was there was a nice fit between the print material I was sent to read about the school and what actually surfaced. That was evidenced by the uniform view of people on the advisory committee, the staff committee, administrative staff, just tremendous enthusiasm for the school," LaVista said.

During the presidential search process, the winning candidate came away with a feeling that the search committee wanted to make the search be a conscientious one.

CLC is a "comprehensive community college," the new president said, with offerings in the areas of: transfer programs, career education programs, basic education, professional and personal growth, economic development, commitment to the cultural arts.

Enrollment growth and how it is maintained is important to LaVista.

"I'm for enrollment growth because what it suggests is greater service to the district. More students you're serving, it means you're helping the community. Where I have a little caution there, though, is that enrollment growth proceeds in such a way that student services are available. That you have parking for more students; counseling available; if you have a 6 or 7 a.m. class that you have a coffee shop open. A lot of schools that I have seen make the mistake of beating the bushes to get more students and they get them, but they do not bring along the support services," LaVista said.

One of LaVista's first tasks, in fact on the day he officially first greeted the public, was to participate in the opening of CLC's new science wing and auditorium.

"It's just a lovely auditorium. By no means does it meet all our needs for the performing arts. It is probably best used for small groups," LaVista said.

Although he has been on the job a little less than a month, LaVista has a clear idea of what is expected from the president of Lake County's college.

"The function of the presidency is to assess the likely future. What all presidents are called upon to do is exercise judgment.

What is out there? How do we lead rather than follow?

Presidents are often in a position where they influence the culture of the institution," he said.

LaVista is in the process of moving his family here from Ohio. LaVista and his wife, Rosemary, have two children - Michael, 15 and Renee, 11.

LCAVC Teachers Describe Programs For Students

by CHANDRA WOODSON

North Chicago Community High School students enjoyed a vocational awareness seminar at NCCHS' cafeteria last month. The seminar, conducted by Lake County Area Vocational Center (LCAVC) representatives, was held to create an awareness in students of the many choices available to them while they are still in school.

LCAVC programs and selected instructional activities include: applied biological & agricultural; business; marketing; management; health, home economics and industrial oriented.

After the seminar, the students who attended were allowed to talk to the teachers of the various programs at LCAVC. The teachers brought sample of some of the things that students will be working with if they decide to attend LCAVC.

At the food service table, Sandy Jurgatis described the tasks of her students. She believes that the program is "very, very rewarding". She said it is not necessary for a student to take a cooking or home economics class before enrolling in the foods class. "We have students who have not spent any time in the kitchen," Jurgatis said.

Among the other instructors present were Ray Snider (electronic equipment repair) and Margaret Stanczek (health care).

No business will be transacted on Monday, May 25, Memorial Day. Regular business hours will resume on Tuesday, May 26. Have a safe and Happy Memorial Day.

'Hawks Beat The Heat, Foes At County Meet

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

When things get hot, North Chicago's track team gets hotter.

The defending Class AA state champions beat both 80 degree heat and 18 other Lake County track teams to easily win the Lake County meet at Round Lake Saturday.

The Warhawks finished with 84 points. Libertyville was a distant second with 64. Waukegan East was third with 51, edging Carmel's 47 points. After Carmel, area teams were not a factor in overall point totals. Warren lost out to Deerfield 18-17 for ninth place; Mundelein was 11th with 16 points; Grant and Grayslake had 14 each; Round Lake had 9.5 points; Antioch had seven points and Wauconda was shutout.

Area teams are now preparing for conference meets May 15 and 16. Northwest Suburban Conference teams meet at Grant May 15 while North Suburban squads are at Libertyville May 16.

North Chicago, a young team seeking to bring home another trophy from the state meet at Charleston, could use the lift, coach Amos Jones said.

"It (the championship) will really help. The kids performed admirably," Jones said as the Warhawks picked up their medals and team trophy from meet officials.

North Chicago - which has just four seniors - dominated the meet by scoring high in the relay events.

The 400 meter relay clocked a 43 second run for first place. The 1600 meter relay team also won a first place.

Alan Turner, the defending state long jump champion, earned a first place with a leap of 22-5. Turner also finished first in the 400 meter run with a 48.3 clocking.

Robert Vaughn and Steve Jones finished one-two in the 100 meter dash. Derrek Pier-son was fourth in the 800 meter run.

James Coles was third in the triple jump.

For Carmel, the Corsairs finished a strong fourth.

Jack Millikin won his speciality, the 100 meter high hurdles with a 15.0. Carmel also scored points in the 400 meter relay, which took fourth.

Rob Graham took home the high jump honors with a leap of 6-6. Graham was sixth in the long jump with a 19-4 and one-half.

Jeff Zogizana was second in the pole vault for Carmel.

Warren's Leon Darby finished fourth in the 100 meter high hurdles while Shawn Fitzgerald was third in the 800 meter run.

Mundelein's Nathan Sweet must now decide where to place his emphasis.

"This is a good training ground for the state meet. It's tough to run three events in this amount of time," Mundelein assistant Art Campbell said.

Sweet won the 3200 meter run with a 9:52.3.

Pat Sloan finished third in the shot put for Mundelein.

Karl Wismer and Butch LeNoir accounted for Grayslake's points. LeNoir was fourth in the 100 meter dash with a 11.4. Wismer won the 1600 in a 4:31.6.

"That's great for a small school like ours," Grayslake coach Pat Crowns said.

Joe Walsh of Grant finished third in the high jump.

Round Lake's point winners included John Castillo, who finished fifth in the shot put and Laphonso Woods, who finished tied for fifth in the 400 meter run.

Makes Golf Team

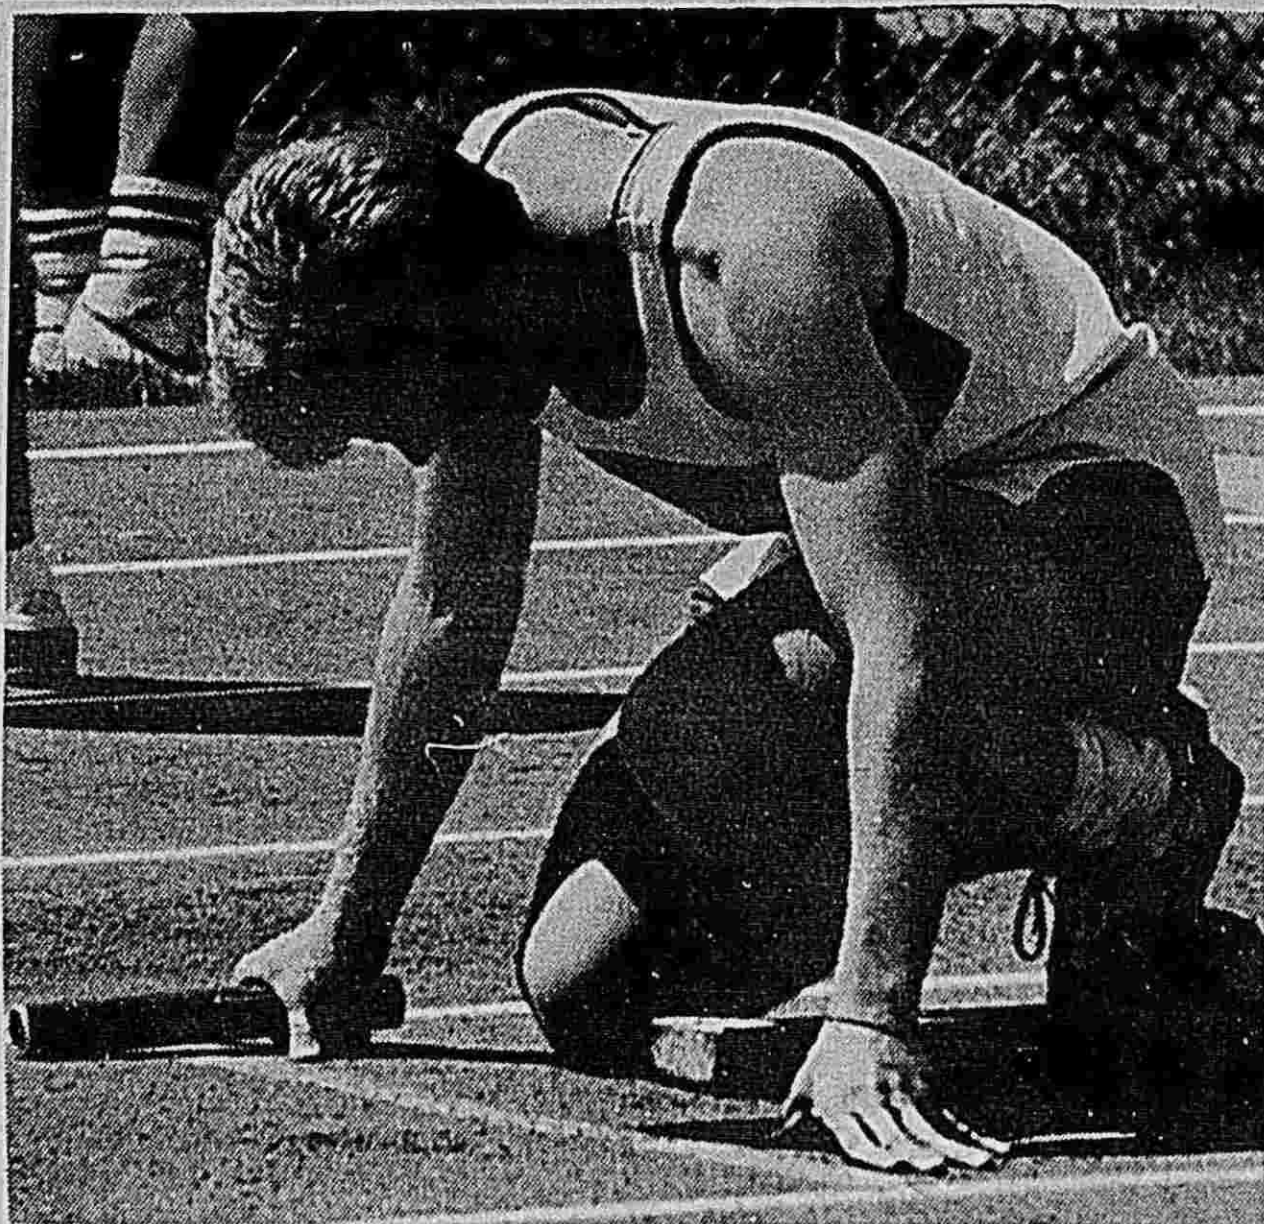

Melba Morris, a 1985 graduate of Wauconda High School, is a member of the Aurora golf team.

A 5-6 sophomore, Morris will be playing for first-year coach Don Holler. The Spartans will compete in the Northern Illinois Conference Tournament on Friday, May 1 at Rockford College.

Morris, a physical education major, is the daughter of Lillian Morris of Wauconda. She is also a member of the Aurora University volleyball and women's basketball teams.

Hot Stuff

Concentration

Rams Hope For More Wins As Regular Season Ends

As far as Grayslake baseball coach Jim Haas is concerned, the Rams' May 15 game at Carmel is the first of Grayslake's future.

"The last two or three weeks of the season we will be emphasizing working with our young kids and getting the best team on the field for regionals," Haas said.

The Rams are coming off a so-so week which saw Grayslake loose to Marengo 4-1 and Round Lake 12-3. But sandwiched in between the two Northwest Suburban Conference losses was a 17-2 shellacking of Wauconda.

Jim Neumann led the attack for Grayslake, going four-for-five with a double. Che Kearby, Mike Langer, Dale Earnest and Pete Lupori all had two hits.

Lupori contributed a home run.

Greg Dunski was the winning pitcher, allowing just three Wauconda hits.

The Rams and Marengo played a tight 1-1 game for six innings at Grayslake. But then the Indians erupted for three runs, claiming the league win as Grayslake had to pull its starting pitcher.

'Hawks Win One, Lose Two

The first four games of the season featured a mixed bag for the Grayslake Mohawks.

The Mohawks started their second season with a tie against Beach Park, then beat Lincolnshire 12-3 in a Mike's Memorial League game, the team dropped two games in the North Shore League to start with a 1-2-1 record.

"The kids played well against Lincolnshire. We seemed to put things together," manager Tom Hunt said.

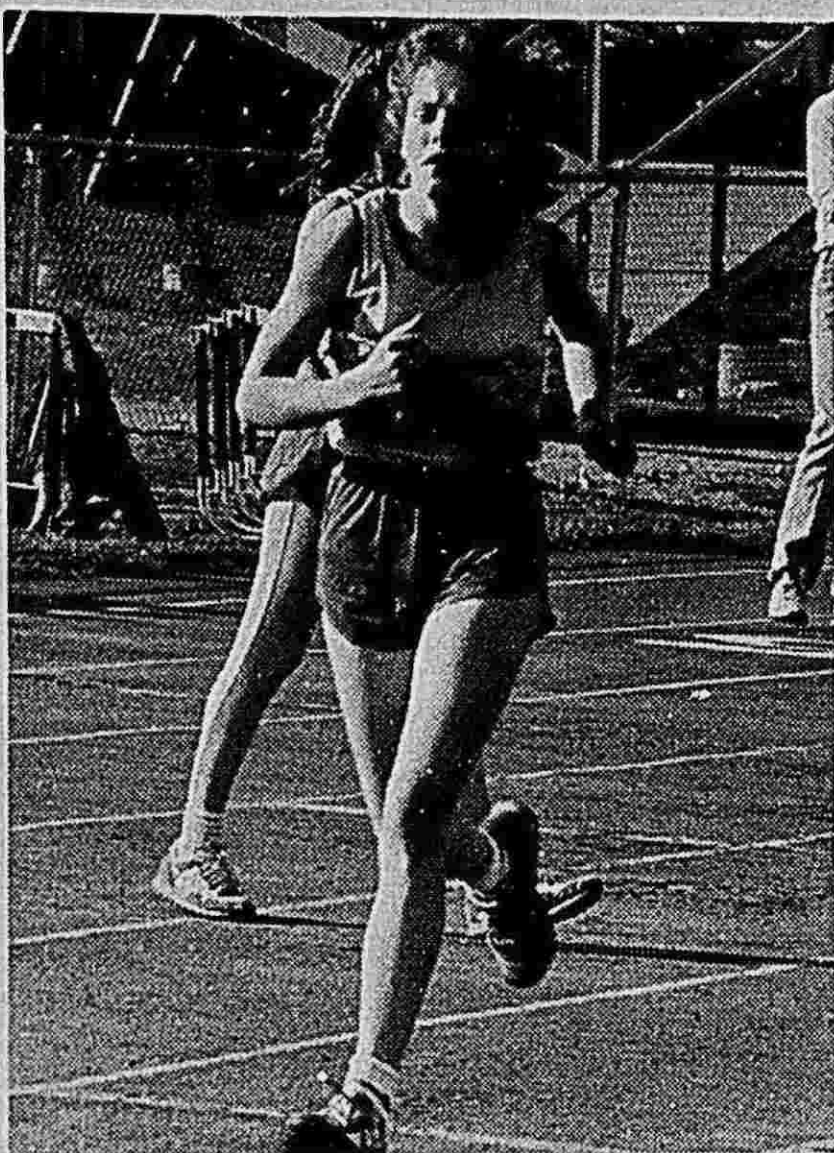

The Mohawks will continue their busy schedule this weekend. The team hosts Schaumburg at the College of Lake County May 14. The Mohawks then travel to Deerfield May 15 before returning home to face Orland Park May 16.

Hunt said the demanding schedule against quality teams will prepare the squad well for the rest of the season.

Against Lincolnshire, the Mohawks started out fast, scoring two runs in each of the first two innings. The big key was the fourth, though, when they tallied five times.

Steve Taylor led the 13-hit attack with a three-for-four game with two runs-batted-in. John Moretti, Clint Rodriguez and Joe Meyer each had two hits apiece.

about playing without rest the next day at Elmhurst.

The Mohawks had trouble getting on track in game one, losing 13-3 as they were held to three hits.

In game two, things looked brighter when the team led 5-1 after the first inning.

But Elmhurst scored six times in the third inning and never trailed after that.

Rodriguez was three-for-three in that game with a double and scored two runs. Contributing two hits were Moretti, Dave Carrillo, Jeff Taylor, Meyer and Matt Cullen.

Bulldogs Hope For Revenge After First League Loss

Grant's baseball team does not have to wait long to gain revenge against the only Northwest Suburban Conference squad to hand them a league defeat.

The Bulldogs are hoping to make up for a loss to Marian Central when they host the Hurricanes May 14 in NWSC play. Marian Central edged Grant 6-5 last week.

Although Grant won two of three league games, beating Round Lake and Johnsburg, coach Fritz Kazlauskis is not totally pleased with his team's play.

"We're not playing very well. We're just playing well enough to win," Kazlauskis said.

In the first Marian Central contest, Grant spotted the host Hurricanes a 5-1 lead after one.

The Bulldogs attempted to rally, scoring one run in the second on a Bob Beskow RBI single.

Grant closed the gap to 5-3 in the third when Jim Theobald and Joe Vocke doubled and Marc Borton singled.

Mike Kazlauskis singled home Ken Rasbid in the sixth to make it 5-4 Hurricanes. Matters looked good for Grant in the top of the seventh. With two out, Borton walked and scored when Mike McDonald tripled.

Marian took advantage of Grant miscues in scoring its winning run in the seventh. Singles by Rusty and Matt Hopp were the key hits, but an error by Grant helped pave the way.

Grant, 8-1 in the NWSC and 18-8 overall heading into this week's games, earlier had edged Round Lake 5-3 as Vocke was the winning pitcher.

The Bulldogs took a 2-0 lead in the first when Kazlauskis singled and Vocke homered.

The Panthers tied the contest, but Theobald downed home the run that put Grant ahead to stay.

McDonald faced a good news, bad news situation against Johnsburg in an away contest. The good news: McDonald struck out 10 Shyhawk hitters. The bad news: he also gave up 12 hits.

Borton had the key hit in the game, a fourth-inning double. Grant had a 14-hit attack on the day.

"They don't have a fence so they were playing us 400 feet deep," Kazlauskis said.

Parola's Bat Helps Hossiers Win Three

A Grayslake High School product has taken full advantage of an opportunity to play for the Indiana University baseball team.

Junior Todd Parola was inserted at second base against Illinois. Parola hit seven-for-12 with three runs-batted-in and three doubles in the four game series with the Illini.

Indiana won the first three games 9-1, 7-5 and 10-5 but lost the finale 8-2.

Parola, in 26 games so far for the Hossiers, has a .383 batting average, third best for the Big Ten squad. He has nine runs-batted-in and seven steals.

After four games, Indiana was 2-2 in the Big Ten's eastern division, two games behind division-leader Michigan.

Luxury Interiors Entice Move-Up Homebuyers

Interior designers must cater to move-up homebuyers' seemingly insatiable appetites for luxury when merchandising builders' upscale new home communities.

"Model homes in this market must make more than a good first impression," said Terry Sheek, senior vice president and general manager of JLD, Inc. (Jean-Lee Design), a Buffalo Grove-based interior merchandising and design company. "Our designers must 'pull out all the stops' when designing luxury interiors."

Such merchandising enables JLD to transform the beautiful but unadorned models of upscale builders like Northbrook-based Red Seal Development and Barrington's Landmark Homes into the status symbols this market is seeking.

Second-and-third-time homebuyers—whether the family oriented professional, the never nester professional couple, or the empty nester, "want it all—the bigger and more luxurious the better," Sheek continued.

"Upscalers typically want a more traditional feel in their homes, as opposed to first-time buyers who often lean toward contemporary lines," Sheek said. "We don't do any hard line contemporary merchandising in the suburban upscale market."

Although the entire home must appeal to this buyer, it's the kitchen, baths and master suite that must serve up the most pizzazz.

Considered the heart of the home, upscale kitchens are spared no expense by builders. It's all there for designers to work with—solid oak cabinets and pantries with refrigerator doors to match, islands moored in the kitchen's center and anchored by shelved-topped planning desks, ceramic tile counter tops, designer flooring, double ovens and other top-of-the-line appliances.

Since entertaining figures predominantly in upscale lifestyles, JLD designers often decorate around an entertainment theme.

"We often show a picnic basket stocked with gourmet foods and expensive wine," Sheek said.

Additionally, she continued, kitchens are frequently accessorized with such upscale appliances as food processors and espresso coffee makers, expensive every-day dinnerware as well as cookware, and the latest haute cuisine cookbooks.

While in smaller homes, an eating area is often part of the kitchen, upscale buyers want real separation between the kitchen and casual dining area. And, according to Sheek, there are few breakfast nooks in upscale homes. "Nook" for this market often means a full-sized 10 by 12 foot room with lots of light, a natural amenity not lost on JLD designers.

Although kitchens are of great importance, designers agree it is the master suite that is the make-or-break feature in upscale homes.

"Move-up buyers have worked hard to afford their dream homes and really want and need a place to get away from it all," Sheek said. It is her designers' job to show the master suite as a retreat, a comfort station or a second family room for adults only. That usually means showing a separate sitting area with a chaise lounge for reading and watching television.

The master suite's merchandising emphasis, however, is devoted to the master bath. Although upscale homes as a rule feature three baths, it is the master bath that heralds a new wave in comfort and design.

This market, Sheek says, wants a large, compartmentalized bathroom that functions efficiently for both husband and wife. And upscalers want luxury...sunken whirlpools crowned by skylights, marble vanities with antique brass fixtures, ceramic tile, separate dressing areas, full walk-in closets for both husband and wife...the list goes on and on.

This merchandising philosophy is maintained through the entire model.

Which Home Improvements Add To Resale Value

"When it comes time to put their house on the market, many homeowners are anxious about whether or not they will recoup the money invested on home improvements. And while there are some improvements that don't recover as much of the investment, most improvements add to the resale value of a home," said Joyce M. Burke, president of First United, Realtors. "Home owners frequently ask what they can expect to add to the price of their home for the additions and renovations completed in their house."

According to Burke, additions, minor remodeling, outdoor and energy-saving projects can be expected to give the most return at resale. Among the most popular additions are fireplaces, full baths, greenhouses and skylights.

"Fireplaces may run about $3,000 to install on an average and offer a value at the time of resale of approximately $4,000," said Burke. "The average cost to add a full bath is about $7,500, but it is worth at least $8,000 at the time of resale."

Burke said that greenhouses and skylights are also popular improvements that do get a fairly high return at resale.

"A skylight, for example, costs about $3,000 to install, but may only add $2,000 to the resale value of your home," said Burke. "Greenhouse additions which provide extra living space and a year-round outdoor atmosphere, run about $13,500. At the time of resale, the addition adds at least $12,000."

Smaller projects, such as remodeling bathrooms or kitchens are also a good investment. A remodeled kitchen, complete with new cabinets and counter, wallpaper and an upgraded range may cost about $7,000, but will add a minimum of $6,500 in resale value," said Burke. "Since the kitchen is always a strong selling point in a home, updating this area is always a good investment."

Burke said that adding a first floor family room is a better investment than finishing a basement for a recreation area and that adding an outdoor deck is a better investment than a swimming pool. "A swimming pool, at least in our area, is seen as more of a maintenance problem and a feature that can only be enjoyed a few months out of the year," said Burke. "And a ground level family room has a much more pleasant atmosphere than a finished basement, which can be darker and more prone to water damage."

"Other areas of improvement that add to the value of your home are luxury fixtures in the baths, adding a bath for the master bedroom and installing central air conditioning," said Burke. "Improving the energy efficiency of your home with upgraded insulation or efficient furnaces contribute to a higher resale value for our home, too."

Twp. Assessors Go Hi-Tech With Maps

The Lake-McHenry Assessors Assn. held their monthly meeting on Thursday, April 16. Guests included Fred Popp, chairman of the management service committee, and Richard Hilton, data administrator of graphics.

Hilton explained how the County Map Dept. was being computerized. Eventually all township assessors will be able to access any property characteristic in the county on his or her own personal computer in their office.

An open house will be held at the County Building in September to demonstrate the graphics system to the public.

It was announced that

Waukegan Twp. would be the first township to utilize the on-line Computer Assisted Mass Appraisal System (CAMA) for the 1987 tax year.

It was also noted that 1986 tax bills were to be mailed out April 30, and the first installment due June 1.

New Meeting Date

The board of education of Lake Villa C.C. School District 41 has changed the regular meeting date from May 19 to May 20 at 8 p.m. at Pleviak School.

School board meetings are open to the public and time is allowed for community input.

Some Seniors May Defer Real Estate Tax Payment

The Senior Citizen Tax Deferral program allows qualified senior citizens to defer part or all of the property taxes on their personal residence. It is a form of a loan, with a six percent interest rate, which is to be repaid after the taxpayer's death or at the time the property is sold.

The law has been effective since 1984 and currently applies to taxes to be paid in 1987, although the deadline for filing forms for 1987 was March 2.

To qualify, persons must be 65 years or older; have a total household income of $14,000 or less; have lived in the property or other qualifying property for at least three years; own the property (the property must be used exclusively for residential purpose); and have no delinquent taxes on the property.

Eligible citizens may defer all or part of their taxes if they qualify. The maximum total which can be deferred, including interest and fees, is 80 percent of the taxpayer's equity in the property.

The program doesn't erase the tax liability; eventually, the taxes will have to be paid. However, the taxes don't become due until after the death of the taxpayer or until the real estate is sold. The tax deferral can be continued by a surviving spouse who is at least 55 years of age within six months of the taxpayer's death. Otherwise, it is due within 90 days after the death of the taxpayer.

To apply for the program, the taxpayer must file two forms with their county collector/treasurer. One form is for information, and the other is the agreement setting out the conditions of the deferral.

Additional information on this senior citizen real estate tax deferral is available from the Lake County Treasurer's office, County Building, Waukegan, 60085, (312)360-6363.

Rights And Responsibilities All Part Of Homeownership

All the settlement papers are signed. Your excitement, built up in anticipation of the closing date, has now crested.

You've just made one of the most, possibly the most, important investment of your life. You've bought your first house. You're no longer a renter. You're a homeowner.

You are faced with new lifestyle choices, new responsibilities. A myriad of decisions, from selecting flowers for a garden to participating in a neighborhood crime prevention program, become top priorities.

Homeownership creates a sense of pride and accomplishment. Buying a home is more than a financial investment. It is a purchase that instills a positive attitude toward community involvement. What happens to your house, your lot, your subdivision and your community is suddenly very important.

By purchasing real estate-land and its attachments--you have obtained real property, which refers to the interests, rights and benefits inherent in real estate ownership. Laws affecting real estate vary widely. Take time to learn about your local government's regulations affecting property use. Familiarize yourself with local property tax, zoning and planning ordinances, as well as any plans or proposals for changes.

The real estate tax rate in one locality might be twice as expensive as the tax rate used in the bordering community. One locality might permit single-family homes to be built in commercially-zoned areas. Another might have laws banning such construction. As a homeowner, it is important for you to use your right to vote to help shape decisions regarding property laws.

'Benefit' Shows May Not Benefit The Community

A circus promoter is making false claims that his show will benefit the retarded, handicapped and underprivileged children.

That's the gist of a scheme attorneys and inspectors for the postal service say is the subject of a ruling by the postal service judicial officer, James A. Cohen. His recent ruling halted delivery of mail containing ticket payments that go ultimately to promoter, Richard Garden. Garden operates Extravaganza Inc., of Sarasota, Fla., which produces circus, ice and variety shows.

The postal service law department's consumer protection officer says the latest move against Extravaganza follows two 1985 agreements with the company that it would stop making misleading statements to sell tickets by phone for its shows.

In papers filed seeking cease and desist orders against the promoter, consumer protection attorneys explain that Extravaganza gets in touch with local Jaycee, Knights of Columbus and other charitable organizations and offers to produce shows, handle the fund raising and marketing, obtains a local post office box for ticket payments and writes a script for use in a telephone "pitch" used by people hired locally.

Pamela Norton, manager of the Pine Tree Chapter of the American Red Cross in Bangor, Maine, says in an affidavit she cancelled plans for an ice show after a representative of Extravaganza showed her a copy of a script he proposed using to solicit ticket sales to the show.

"I was particularly concerned about the use of terms such as 'underprivileged' and 'less fortunate' to describe the children who would be involved in the performance. That use of such terms would harm the reputation the Red Cross has developed in the Bangor community for being a caring and sensitive organization." When she and the promoter failed to agree on a script, she cancelled the show but a few weeks later telephone solicitors began making calls claiming they were selling tickets for an ice show for the benefit of the Red Cross.

"Extravaganza has been guaranteeing local charitable organizations between $1,500 and $3,500 for a show, while taking in $30,000 to $40,000 themselves," postal inspector Phil Nater says, "and the only benefit any handicapped or underprivileged kids get is a few seats to a show that involves the sale of thousands of tickets."

At least four states, Maine, Massachusetts, Wisconsin and New York, have obtained court injunctions restricting how and when Richard Garden and his corporations may do business there.

Other complaints have come from communities in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Hampshire and Indiana.

The postal inspection service, law department consumer protection officer and the judicial officer have responsibility for protecting the public from deceptions and frauds involving use of the mails.

Gather 'Round

Where else but around the elephant would Republican workers gather to work out details for the Lake County Republican Federation's spring dinner. U.S. Senate Minority Leader Robert Dole (R-Kansas) will be keynote speaker for event to be held May 15 at Mundein Holiday Inn, beginning at 6 p.m. Marilyn Sterbenz of Antioch is cocktail tickets chairman, Michael Jaroch (center) of Lake Villa is arrangements chairman and Timothy Osmond of Antioch is hospitality chairman. Patron tickets are $175 and dinner tickets are $50. For more information call (312) 623-0235.

The Only Air Conditioner That Conditions Air The Year-Round Is A Heat Pump.

Air conditioning is really a form of refrigeration. It cools by removing heat from your home and blowing it outside.

If you turned a window air conditioner around, and put it in backwards, it would remove heat from the air outside and blow it in.

You'd be heating your home with refrigeration. And that's exactly how a heat pump works.

It Cools In The Summer.

In the summer, a heat pump is essentially a central air conditioner. Except it's probably quite a bit more efficient than your old central unit.

That means a new heat pump will use less electricity and cost less to run than an old air conditioner.

It Warms In The Winter.

In the winter, while an air conditioner just sits outside and shivers, a heat pump reverses itself and starts pumping in warm air to help heat your home.

You don't have to turn it around and install it backwards, either.

All you do is flick a switch on your thermostat, and you're heating with refrigeration.

It Saves. And Saves. And Saves.

The benefits are amazing. But true. Because a heat pump works like an air conditioner, it doesn't burn anything to create heat.

It just removes solar heat from the air outside and pumps it into your home. It's one of the most efficient heating devices in the world.

The Best Of Both.
Gas furnaces work most efficiently when the outside temperature is at or below freezing. The rest of the time they waste money. Some waste a lot of money.

But 64% of the time between fall and spring, northern Illinois temperatures are above freezing.

That's when heat pumps are most efficient.

So if you're considering a new central air conditioner, consider adding a heat pump to your gas furnace instead, for the best — the most efficient — of both energy sources.

$250 Rebate.

Just to sweeten the pot a little, Commonwealth Edison is offering a rebate of $100 per ton of cooling capacity for heat pumps installed in new or existing homes.

The average installation is about 2½ tons, or a rebate of $250.

It Lasts. And Lasts. And Lasts.

You can expect your new heat pump to pump along happily, winter and summer, for 15 to 16 years on the average. And 20 years isn't at all unusual.

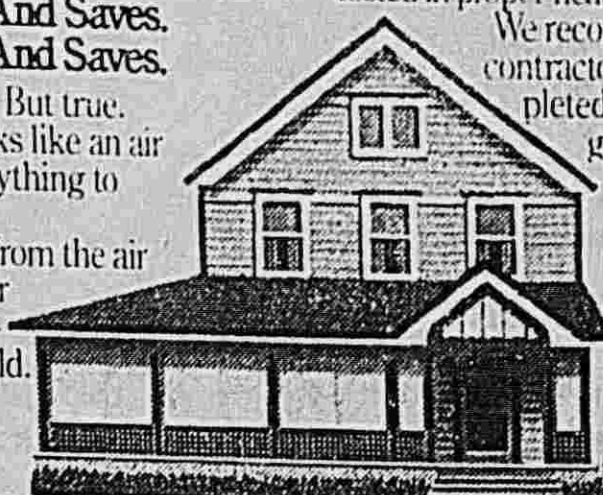

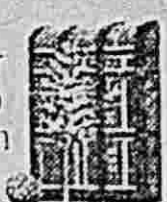

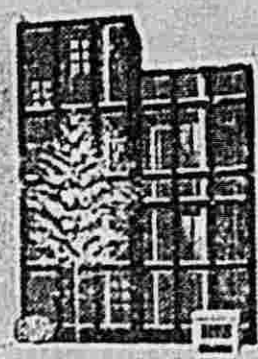

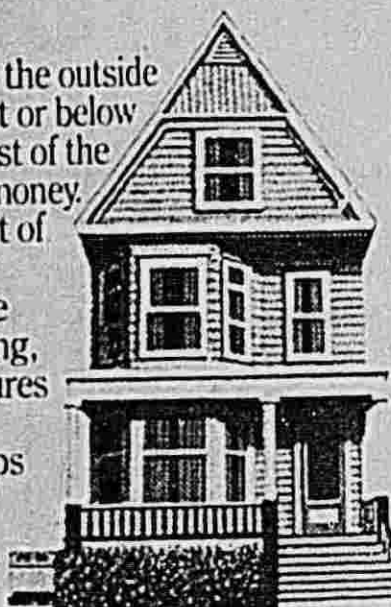

But good installation is essential to this long, happy life. So we encourage dealers to train and be tested in proper heat pump installation and servicing.

We recommend that you select a heating contractor who has successfully completed the Refrigeration Service Engineers' Society testing program.

For more information, call The Heat Pump Hotline at (312) 294-PUMP. Or write to: Heat Pump, Box 767, Chicago, Illinois 60690.

Boldt's Pier Club Now Complete Fun Complex

by GLORIA DAVIS

Mel Boldt, owner of Pier Plex on Pistakee Lake, is an example of a man with many irons in the fire and all those irons are red hot.

Boldt is one of a new breed of entrepreneur that believes that people are the most important asset a company can have.

He is a man who had a very diversified business career since he began it as an attorney, a career which was to last only five years when he decided that small business was where it's at.

"I truly believe that small business has the potential to become the next major political force in this country," said Boldt. He credits small business for most of the important inventions of the past century.

So he founded the Independent Business Assn. of Ill. and is a charter member of the governor's Small Business Advisory Committee. Boldt was one of Illinois' delegates to the White House Conference On Small Business.

For 14 years, he has owned BMI, Inc., in DesPlaines, where he lives. BMI is a successful precision metal stamping plant.

Last August, Boldt entered the restaurant business by opening the Pier Club on Pistakee Lake, on the Chain which he learned to love during many vacations. He went into the restaurant business by following-up on his belief in the importance of people by hiring restaurateur Steve Luke as his general manager. Luke is responsible for designing the restaurant at the Conrad Hilton's Towers in Chicago.

Nine months later, not only is the Pier Club going full blast, but it has grown into an entertainment complex called Pier Plex, consisting of the Pier Club for fine and casual dining, the Pier Place Marina and the Reef, a good time tavern across the way.

The complex has something going on every weekend. The outdoor activities start by roping the area off and incorporating events such as arts and craft shows, boat shows and live outdoor entertainment.

Coming up is the Memorial Day Picnic which will feature a live Dixieland band. On the complex's agenda with summer fast approaching are beach parties, a luau, and a Corona Festival Day complete with a live Mariachi band.

The cuisine at the Pier Club is one of the finest, most unusual, with a varied menu to give diners just about anything their appetite desires.

According to Luke, it is the home of "Lake County's finest barbequed ribs." For seafood lovers there are new fresh fish on the menu daily such as opah, a south Pacific game fish similar to swordfish and marlin, both of which are often available at the Pier Club.

Cajun shrimp and baby Coho salmon are also favorites of the club's customers.

Salad is more than just salad at the Pier Club says Luke. "All our salads are served in a giant clam shell and they're pretty special."

Then he starts mouths to watering by describing the Hot Chicken Nest. This succulent offering is a broiled breast of chicken, slivered onto and bed of spinach, topped with a sweet-sour sauce.

One of the popular entertainment additions to the Reef has been a new Sing-A-Long machine which allows customers to sing-along with their favorite musicians via a tape and a microphone they pass along.

At the Pier Club, the atrium overlooking the lake and the outdoor diningroom that overlooks the marina fit right in with the vacation living indicative of the casual way of life loved by residents of and visitors to the Chain O' Lakes area.

Annual Rodeo July 10 — 12

The annual Wauconda Rodeo, the biggest rodeo held in the midwest, is scheduled to go on Friday, July 10, Saturday, July 11 and Sunday, July 12.

The greatest bronco and bull show in the county will be held at the rodeo grounds on Rte. 12 in Wauconda.

Rodeo Chairman Sam Selvaggio is busy getting the program for this year into print. He promises a more exciting show than ever.

Celebrating Summer

Jeannie C. Riley will be among the top entertainment names scheduled to perform at Round Lake Beach's four-day 50th anniversary festival in July. Festival will run from July 9 through 12 and feature other groups such as Shadows of Night, The Buckinghams and The Diamonds.

Dianna Ditka To Keynote Central YMCA Dinner

Central Lake YMCA will hold its annual dinner on Wednesday, May 20, at the Country Squire Restaurant in Grayslake.

The featured speaker will be Dianna Ditka, wife of Chicago Bears Coach Mike Ditka. The evening will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. and dinner will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Dittas, residents of rural Grayslake, have been very active in supporting local benefits and charities.

Tickets for the event are $35 per person and are considered a tax deductible contribution.

Julie Eschrich, Libertyville; Kyle Forman, Julie Ambrus and Ariane DiMaria, Mundelein; Janina Milligan and Carolyn Kasper, Waukegan; Angie Rivelli, Gurnee; Lisa Skarzynski, Lake Zurich; Jennie Babey, Vernon Hills; Lori Van Erden, Wildwood.

A dance group, Orchesis encourages increased appreciation of that art form. Through shared creativity the students expand their ability to communicate ideas and feelings.

Kirk Players Rehearse 'Play It Again, Sam'

The traffic light half a block ahead has just turned red; one eases his foot off the accelerator and moves it slowly toward the break pedal. One absentmindedly watches the cross traffic after stopping, then glances at the car in the next lane.

Nothing unusual there—some guy talking to...to...but there's nobody else in the car.

Maybe he's singing along with the music from the radio. No, he's definitely having an animated conversation with someone—but someone who is present only in his mind. But who is it? His wife, his boss, an old bowling buddy?

Or could it be that he's planning a speech, learning lines for a play, or just...enjoying a brief refuge from reality by temporarily slipping into a little harmless fantasy?

Authors, composers, inventors, social activists, designers, poets, even actors, are all dreamers of a sort. Creativity demands an active imagination, a childlike quality. It is not an accident that Allan Felix, is a writer. And in case you didn't recognize the name, Alan is the central character of "Play It Again, Sam," a romantic comedy by Woody Allen. And while a certain amount of imagination is a wonderful asset, spending too much time in fantasyland can be detrimental. And deciding where to draw the line is a subject which keeps psychologists arguing for days on end!

Felix would never see the guy in the next car because he would be too involved in conversation with his own imagination, with his own demons. And although this may initially sound like a visit to the loony bin, it really isn't because one gets to see and hear all of the people who keep intruding into Allan's life through his overactive mind. Just as they are allowed into Calvin's fantasies in, the comic strip, "Calvin & Hobbes." The show is not a "Cuckoo's Nest;" rather, it's a hilarious comedy which will keep one laughing from beginning to end.

The playwright created the lead role for himself, so anyone having seen anything done by Woody Allen, should have some kind of idea about what to expect, including both subtle and not-so-subtle innuendoes.

And Thom Koch, Jr., the Kirk Players' own Woody Allen clone, will do everything in his power to keep a laugh in the belly and a smile on the face, as he becomes Allan Felix in "Play It Again, Sam" on May 22 and 23. Others who will add their talents to the cause include: Bob Thomas, Jerilyn Kjellberg, Terry Sapp, Lisa Wilson, Paula Willems, Janie Ann Slade, Maureen Cook Slade, Phyllis Carter and Kathy Russ.

And if one clone isn't enough, the Kirk Players are using two in this show: Floyd Baker will appear as Humphrey Bogart. Carol Marie Fischesser will be stage manager and Paula Willems will handle props.

There's nothing on tv either of those two nights which can match this, so make plans now to attend! May 22 and 23 at Mundelein High School Auditorium. Curtain opens at 8 p.m.

Set Shakespeare Festival

The Wisconsin Shakespeare Festival will begin its second decade of exciting classical drama in the University of Wisconsin-Platteville's Center for the Arts on July 4 and run through Aug. 1.

The reputation of the festival has grown over its 10-year history with many reviewers giving rave reviews. The Wisconsin State Journal of Madison stated, "...many fine moments, much fine acting, and, all in all, excellent theatre." Isthmus, also of Madison, made comments such as, "When Shakespeare is as ebullient as this, it's a celebration of the highest order." The festival has also received glowing reviews from prestigious theater magazines such as the Shakespeare Quarterly.

This summer's season will be composed of the tragic and mysterious "The Winter's Tale," the outrageously hilarious "Merry Wives of Windsor," and the beloved and charming comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing."

There will be matinees every Sunday, Wednesday, and Saturday afternoon starting at 2 p.m. The evening performances begin at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. All productions are in the air-conditioned, handicap-accessible Center for the Arts on the University of Wisconsin-Platteville campus.

Festival Of The Arts

The Festival of the Arts '87 on Aug. 1 and 2, is a two-day event combining the fine arts, crafts and performing arts on the beautiful grounds of the David Adler Cultural Center. The festival will also include a variety of foods and both local and nationally known musicians. Visitors from northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin fill the park during this weekend celebration. Application deadline is June 1 at the David Adler Cultural Center in Libertyville. Call (312) 367-0707 for entry forms.

as well as the United States during its 40-year history.

Among the wealth of critical superlatives the chorus has won, the following summarizes the high regard in which this chorus is held: "The Roger Wagner Chorale is about as nearly perfect as human skill and talent can achieve."

Admission to the concert is by season membership only. Tickets for individual concerts are not available, but memberships for the 1987-88 season will be on sale at the concert.

'Rags' Good Show But Not In Smash Category

by GLORIA DAVIS

Candelight Dinner Theater's continuous ability to come up with performers of the highest theatrical caliber amazes me.

In its newest production "Rags," the performers far outshine their vehicle.

"Rags," in this midwest premier, is supposed to be sort of a son of "Fiddler On the Roof," or "Fiddler II," or whatever!

Anyway, here we have the deposed Russian Jews journeying to America and the trials and tribulations of American im-stealing department is Susan Moniz, fresh off of her triumph as Marriott's Dorothy in "The Wiz."

Moniz bubbles and effervesces all over the stage and she brings the house down (or should) with her interpretation of the title song.

Others that more than deserve a mention are child-star Jedidah Cohen who has a loud clear voice but lacks any cuddly appeal, Dale Benson who plays a variety of roles but is always recognizable because of the vibrato migrants in the early 1900s.

One would think that a musical with book by award winner Joseph Stein and music by well-known composer Charles Strouse and lyricist Stephen Schwartz would be a five-star hit.

It's a good show with pretty but mostly unmemorable songs, but definitely not another "Fiddler." "Rags" and "Children of the Wind," are the best of the score, but not ones that will pop up as classics for years to come.

In fact two of the stars of Candelight's production were in that theater's version of "Fiddler," Anna Arvia and Lee Peltz.

Arvia, in the lead role of the tragedy-beset Rebecca, turns in a perfect performance from all angles, her voice is beautiful and emotion-filled, her acting, superlative.

Peltz comes up with his usual audience-winning performance in the role of first an over protective, then a grief-stricken father. In the latter, his stoicism keeps any emotional transmission to the audience from going past the second row.

John Reeger does the part of Arvia's suitor justice, but here again, I found a lack of feeling for the part.

Arvia's only competitor in the scene in his voice, and Norman Engstrom and Norman Moses as the political climber and ill-fated lover respectively.

Mark Pence does a lot with the small role of Big Tim Sullivan, as does Martha Webster as Rachel who has "Three Sunny Rooms" to share.

I think the reason "Rags" fails to hit a musical pinnacle is the lack of fever-pitch high memments that make shows like "Fiddler" so enjoyable.

Certainly "Fiddler's" story of mass deportation was far from a happy one, but the serenity of "Sunrise, Sunset," and the fast-paced, chock-full-of chuckles found in "If I Were a Rich Man" kept the entertainment juices flowing.

In "Rags" the numbers intended to do this just don't quite make it, leaving too much misery to music for the audience to digest without going away depressed instead of whistling the show's top tune.

But a good show, done by a magnificent cast makes "Rags" well worth the price of admission and more.

Footlights In The Works

St. Peter Parish in Antioch is making plans for its sixth annual fundraiser, "Footlights." This year's theme is "Footlights '87, Remembers When..." and will be presented the weekends of Nov. 6 and 7 and 13 and 14.

In addition to some of the returning "Footlights" favorites, there will also be several entertainment surprises in store for all. There will be a tempting variety of culinary delights from light snacks to a selection of full meals, which will be available throughout the evening.

Anyone who would like to be a part of this year's presentation and has not yet been contacted can contact Linda Pedersen at (312)395-1384.

The main Footlights committee members (Wayne Sobczak, Dean and Linda Pedersen, LaVergne Nauseda and Carol and Phil Delany) have been working diligently, formulating the groundwork needed for this huge undertaking. All indications are that "Footlights '87" will be a great success.

ROCK TRACKS

Tom Petty and The Heartbreakers' new album is just that — a heartbreaker. As heartland rockers go, this is a band that waves the flag relatively seldom, and even then the flag is usually Confederate. On one cut, titled "Let Me Up," the patriotic overtones are indirect and come mostly from the album's combination of folk-rock styles, which also permits a wide variety of sound and smoothness of tone.

Unfortunately, the lyrical message varies only in the degree of desperation and depression, though Petty does smile and scowl through some of the bad times. To give you an idea of the album's tone, the illustration inside the record jacket is that of a plane crash. Compared to the love lost on this LP, a plane crash doesn't seem so bad. Still, while his heart may be dragging around, the band never is. That makes "Let Me Up" a very enjoyable listening experience, depressing only in the sense that you feel like watching the six o'clock news after the words sink in just to cheer up.

"Jammin' Me," a good solid rock tune, makes a social statement with its reeling of irritating signs of the times in the style of Bob Dylan, and for good reason; Dylan co-wrote that tune. Dylan's influence is even more apparent on "Self-Made Man" and "Runaway Trains," although he didn't collaborate with Petty on those two.

If there are any cuts that might remotely pull you out of a down mood, they would be "Think About Me" and "The Damage You've Done," the latter being a tune bluesy in feel but with a great backbeat. That song segues into "It'll All Work Out," a nice, mandolin-led song with the most poetic lyrics found on the album.

Dissimilar to their most recent studio work with Dave Stewart of "Eurythmics," this Petty and the Heartbreakers album sounds like it could have been recorded live with no overdubs at all. That emphasizes the band's excellent ensemble work and coherence.

Fish Always Favorite Of Most Friday Diners

by GLORIA DAVIS

Friday nights are fast becoming the biggest night for eating out in reasonable priced restaurants with the many All-You-Can-Eat fish fries drawing the biggest crowds because of the more for your money aspect.

The VFW Post 4308 in Lake Villa is well-known for its excellent fish fry. Served in abundance every Friday is cod, perch or shrimp in the basket with all the fixin's.

Old Fitzgerald's Resort on Lake Mary in Twin Lakes is still packing them in for its famous Door County Fish Boil.

The Fairview Restaurant in downtown Twin Lakes has long lines in front waiting for its delicious potatoe pancakes and fried perch, AYCE.

For the slightly higher class seafood lovers (but still at a reasonable price), try the Lobster Fest held at Andres On the Bay in Fox Lake. Every Friday there is beer batter lobster for $11.95 and queen lobster tails for $13.95.

The so very pretty Red Geranium, just outside of Lake Geneva on Hwy. 50, gives Friday dining out a different touch. Their specialty that night is "A Taste of America," serving succulent dishes made from recipes gotten from famous restaurants nationwide.

Mitch's Tavern in Park City on Belvidere Rd. serves poor man's lobster, fresh lake perch and fish and chips at the beginning of every weekend.

As much pan fried perch and walleyed pike or ocean perch as can be stuffed down is available for $4.95 at Eagle Point Park (The Puppet Place) in Fox Lake.

Back up in Wisconsin, the Brass Ball Restaurant at the intersection of Hwys. 83 and 50 in Paddock Lake has a great Friday Fish Fry and Bristol Oaks Country Club, also on Hwy. 50, east of Bristol, has just started serving cod.

The Lake Shangrila Restaurant on Hwy. B in Salem serves a wicked fish Florentine dinner.

Still slightly up north, Marinos Restaurant on Hwy. 50 in Wheatland has whitefish to offer and we hear that their baked potatoes are simply huge.

Try the salmon patties in cream sauce often served at the Squire Restaurant at Rtes. 83 and 173 in Antioch. They also have a delicious seafood platter and baked trout as well as fried cod.

Fish is the order of the day at Johnny Dee's Pier 83 on Rte. 83 in Antioch with the AYCE fish fry a choice of walleye, catfish, lake perch, smelt and haddock. Grooper, halibut steak and salmon are also on the menu.

For Chinese foodlovers, the jumbo deep fried shrimp served at the Center Inn Chinese Restaurant on Center St. in Grayslake is the best.

'Time' Set For Genesee

During the spring Daedalus Production will present a new national tour of the New Orleans jazz musical, "One Mo' Time." A critically praised evening of black vaudeville, "One Mo' Time" ran up a record-breaking, four-year run on the New York stage, then went on to highly successful engagements in Los Angeles, Washington, D.C., as well as Germany, Australia and London, England.

"One Mo' Time" is the creation of actor-director, Vernel Bagneris, perhaps best known as the dancing star of the film musical "Pennies From Heaven." A New Orleans native, Bagneris became fascinated with a forgotten bit of show business history, the black vaudeville circuit on which such talents as Bessie Smith, Bill "Bojangles" Robinson, and Ethel Waters started on their climb to stardom.

Inspired by the early struggles of these famed black entertainers, Bagneris created "One Mo' Time," a tribute to black vaudeville as performed and attended in the New Orleans' red light district of Storyville. And, as only seemed fitting, the musical premiered and triumphed in New Orleans before transferring to New York and international acclaim.

In "One Mo' Time," the year is 1926, and the scene, New Orleans' famed Lyric Theatre, "home of the best in colored entertainment." Bertha Williams (a big mama with voice and temper to match) and her variety troupe are playing a sold-out, one-week engagement.

In several scenes we get a glimpse of their dressing room rivalries and love spats. But the show's main attraction is their on-stage show. Backed by a five-piece Dixieland Band, Bertha's vaudeville revue features cakewalks and charlestons, ribald comedy and rousing renditions of over 20 classic song, including such standards as "See See Rider," "Kitchen Man," and "A Hot Time In The Old Town Tonight."

"One Mo' Time" will be staged and choreographed by veteran director Bob Durkin. A former Broadway dancer, he is responsible for the direction and/or choreography of over 100 professional productions for summer stock, national tours and regional theatres.

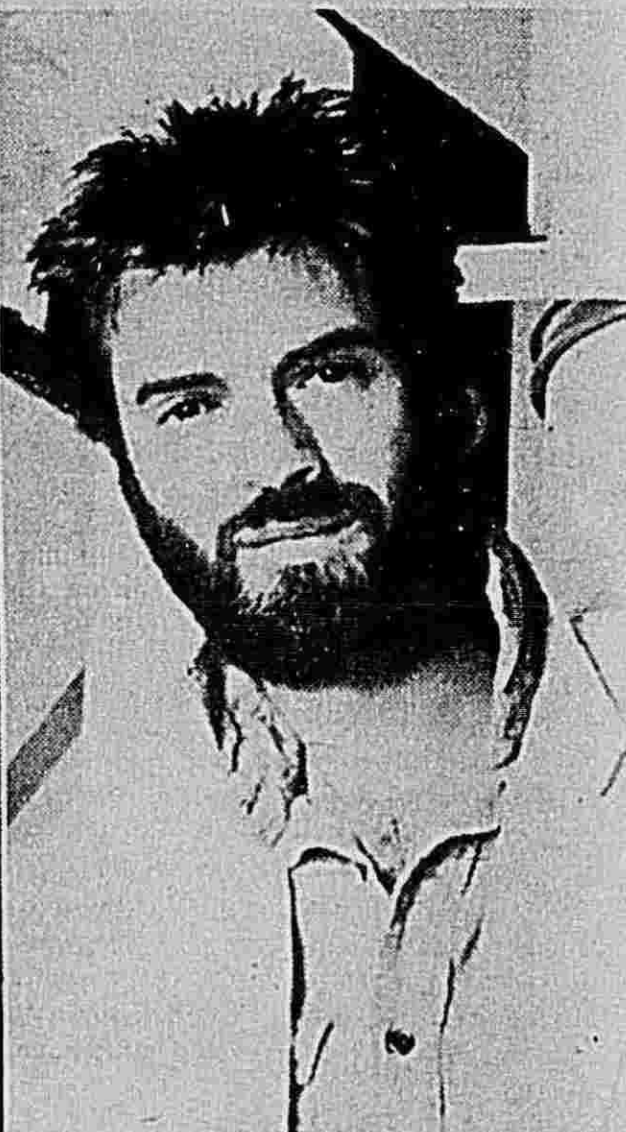

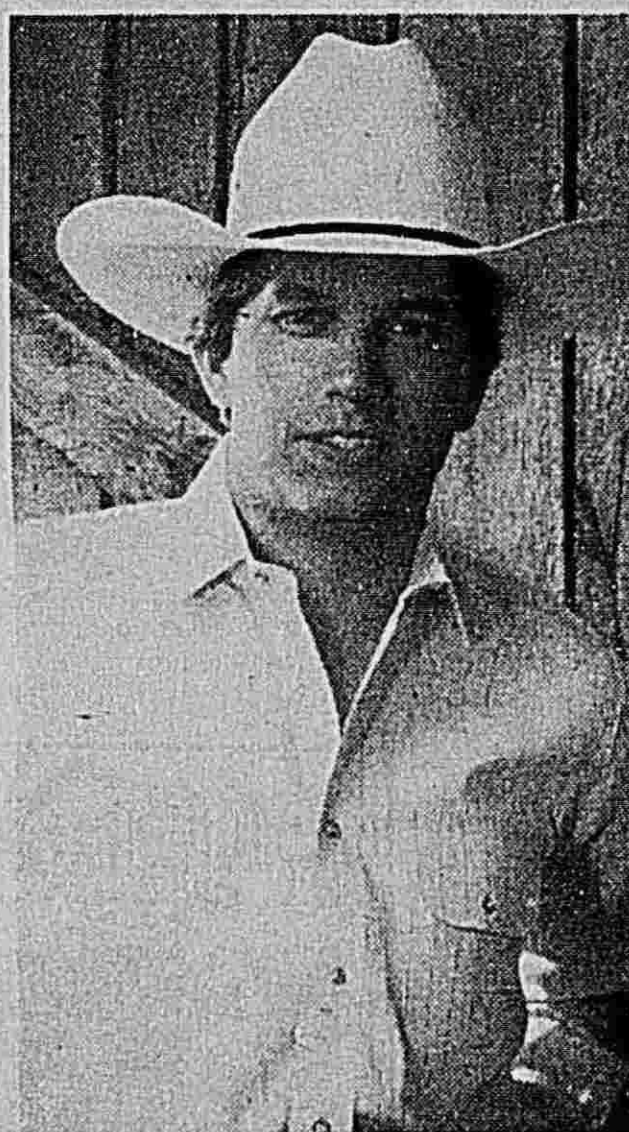

About this new venture, Durkin has said: "There are very few black musicals with the appeal of 'One Mo' Time.' It has everything—wild comedy, a touch of drama, really rousing numbers. It keeps the audience involved. And the jazz band is fabulous. No wonder it ran four years in New York."

From January through April, this new national tour of "One Mo' Time" will give 50 performances in 20 states from New England to Texas. It is produced by Daedalus Productions, the New York City company whose most recent national tours have included "Evita," Neil Simon's "They're Playing Our Song," and three cross country swings of "Ain't Misbehavin'."

"One Mo' Time" will be presented May 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Genesee Theatre, 203 N. Genesee, Waukegan. Tickets are $15, $13 and $10. Call the theatre box office for more information, (312) 336-0494.

Lindsay Wagner's bionic years: nothing but work

By Lynn Hoogenboom

It has been nine years since Lee Majors scanned the scene with his bionic eye, and Lindsay Wagner laid her well-tuned bionic ear to the ground, but there was a time — almost the entire 1970s, in fact — when the bionics seemed to pop up everywhere and spawned a whole spate of TV superhero copycats.

Lindsay Wagner

On Sunday, May 17, NBC viewers may feel as if they've stepped into a time warp. That's the evening that "The Return of the Six-Million-Dollar Man and the Bionic Woman" will air. Majors will reprise his role from "The Six Million Dollar Man," Wagner will reprise hers from "The Bionic Woman," and Richard Anderson, who played Oscar Goldman on both series, will reprise his as well.

When Wagner is asked if there are any surprises in the reunion special, she responds with a mysterious smile. "Jaime remembers," she says.

Fans will recall that the skydiving accident that led to the bionic rebuilding of Jaime Sommers (Wagner) also left her with a partial memory loss. Among the things she forgot was her love for Steve Austin (Majors).

One of Wagner's strongest memories of her bionic years is the working hours. "The average day was 18 hours," she says. "I only saw friends when they visited the set."

Maybe that's why she seems much happier discussing her sons, Dorian, age 4, and Alex, 7 months, and her new book (Prentice Hall, $10.95) and video (Karl Lorimar Home Video, 19.95), both titled "Lindsay Wagner's New Beauty: The Acupressure Facelift."

"It works the same way acupuncture works, but you're using fingers instead of needles," she explains. "The muscles start doing what they were originally intended to do, so the skin flexes tight."

She hopes the video will save people from plastic surgery. But for someone who's pushing a beauty video, she places surprisingly little value on external appearances. "I think that's part of the problem: this obsession with the way you look. It doesn't seem to matter how you're feeling as long as you can carry off that you're under the age you are."

But Wagner, 37, is in a profession that places a premium value on externals. Could she ever see herself having cosmetic surgery?

"I don't like to make predictions that far in advance," she says. "But at this point, I can't imagine doing that."

Long Lake Ski School Plans Full Speed Ahead

Despite protests, Ralph Kring is continuing his plans to open a water ski school on Long Lake May 15.

Kring, of Wonder Lake, McHenry County, said May 14 that he's well aware of area concerns about opening the school and he's listened to those with interest.

Some of those have claimed that the school could lower property values, said Kring, the founder and operator of Water Skiing Centers of Northern Illinois. But he refuted that contention.

He said that the clientele would come from mid-to-upper-income families due to the hourly fees of $60.

He added that if those families bought property on the lake, "it would certainly raise property values."

He also pointed out that he plans to operate a highly professional ski school and employ 15 instructors, all qualified by the American Water Ski Association.

Meanwhile, concern about the school arose again during a meeting of Long Lake Improvement and Sanitation Friday, May 8 at Grant Town Hall.

Tenor of the meeting and citizens present was that commercial activity was not welcome on Long Lake which is private according to the Illinois Dept. of Transportation (IDOT) classification and nearly entirely residential in character.

To confirm the private status, Alberta Miller, supervisor of Grant Twp., contacted IDOT and was told that the state regards the lake as private.

Kring, however, disagrees, but speculated that even if the lake is private, some authority would have regulation over business.

Thirty-five persons attended the public meeting and discussed several facets of the situation.

Sander Sundberg, president of the health and sanitation organization, noted that if Lake County Building Officer Robert Streicher issues a temporary use permit, the county would be able to control the school's operation.

Streicher said that he's looking at the feasibility of issuing a temporary permit under special events. If he does, Kring will have to comply with certain regulations and the sheriff will be able to inspect the premises for health and safety at any time.

The area is zoned commercial which would allow for operation of a ski school. Streicher conferred with Fred Foreman, state's attorney, on Tuesday.

The group also felt that the school may be impractical from the cost standpoint if Kring's trailer is found to be illegal.

Kring said that while the trailer was red-tagged (alleged violation of building and zoning rules), he has spoken with Streicher who informed him that he'd grant a special use permit because it will only be used as an office and to house equipment. He also said that the school would close Sept. 15.

Kevin Benton, a resident, said he thought that avenues should be explored of opposing the school other than building and zoning.

The group also discussed continuing the petition drive, although Sundberg said this is an association and not a citizen project.

People there felt the need to get information on the legal operation of the school. William Kercher of the board moved to appropriate $1,000 for the purpose of initial legal fees and the motion carried unanimously.

John Sloan, Waukegan attorney, was retained as of Monday, May 11, to make a legal inquiry into the matter.

The petition drive, meanwhile, was mounted to halt the school's opening on grounds that it endangered boating and would congest the lake.

Coordinating groups are the sanitation association, North Shore Property Owners Assn. and the Long Lake Yacht Club.

Kring plans to operate his school from the Frigate Restaurant on Long Lake, located on Rollins Rd. between Fairfield Rd. and Wilson Rd. and Cypress Shores Resort, Petite Lake, located at 25621 W. Herman Ave., Antioch.

He intends to open his Petite Lake outlet on May 30.

Regarding possible regulation, Sundberg noted that the Illinois Department of Conservation has no control or requirements of a water ski school other than proper registration of tow boats.

And Chief Trinski of the Lake County Sheriff's Office reported that the water operation of a water ski school must be done in a "safe" manner.

But he questions if this is possible on Long Lake and if the school opens, he plans to keep a close eye on it.

Streicher said that if the school has legal access to Long Lake waters, Kring can use all of it for teaching water skiing.

Meanwhile, an informal meeting was held Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. Kring. Meeting with them were Tom, Ralph and Joe Sabatini; Sundberg, Bob Woods, Jay Barber, Kevin Benton and Michael Gregory.

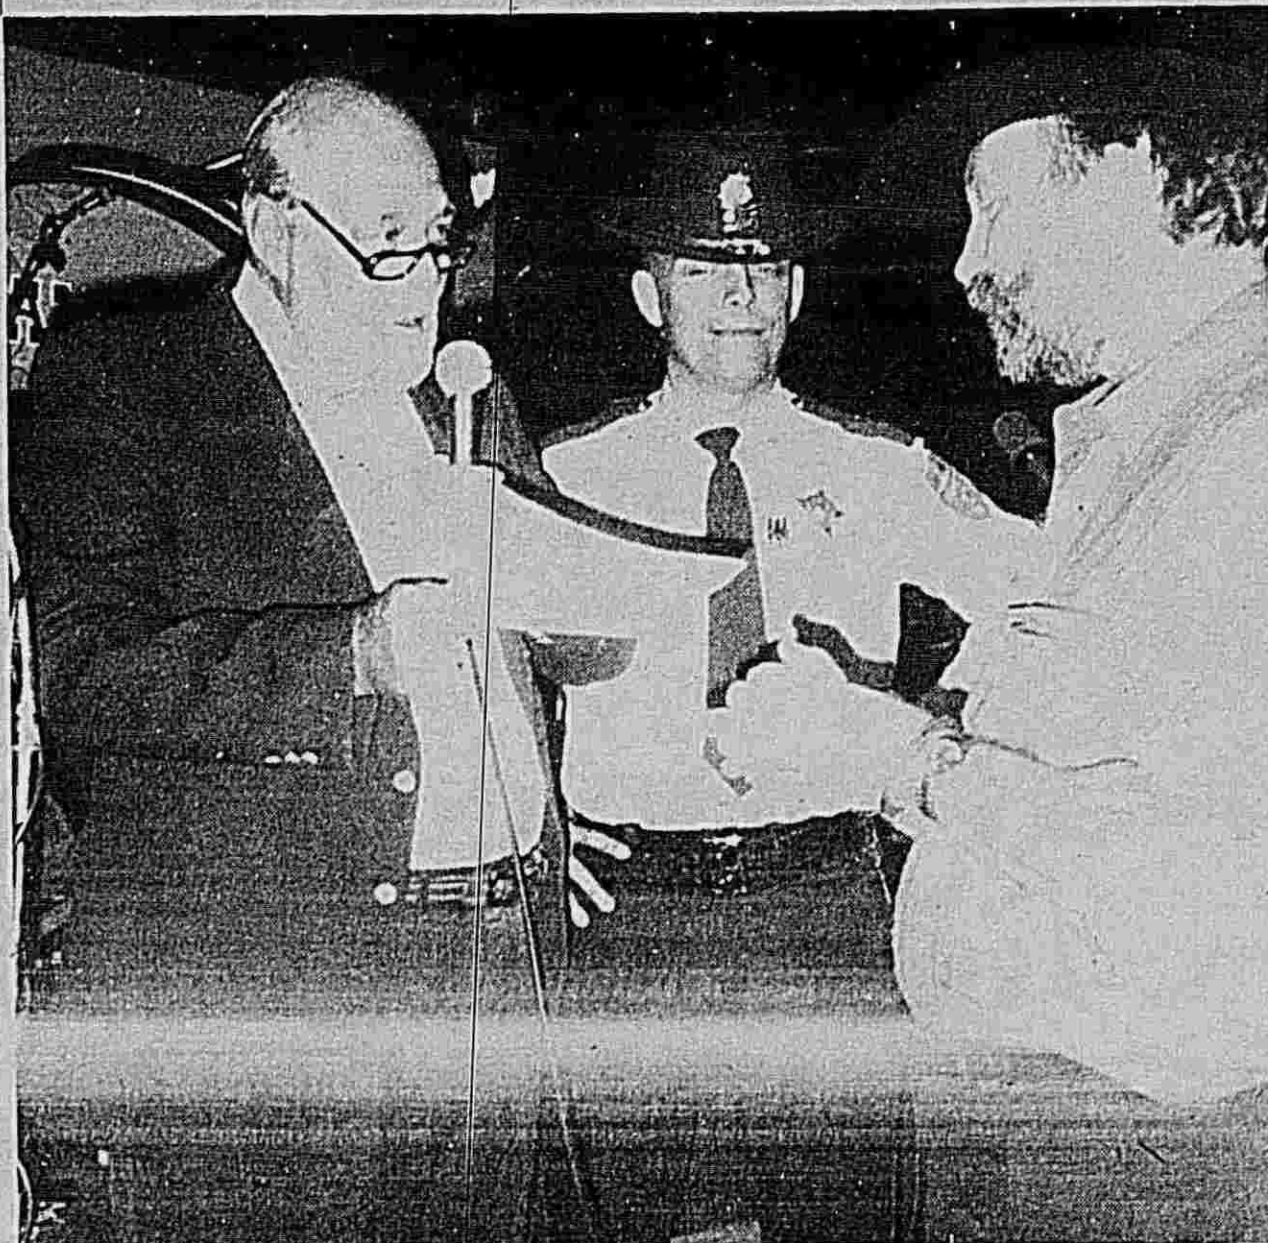

Ralph, manager of the Frigate, said that the Sabatinis have lived on the lake since 1947 and are "interested only in the betterment of the lake."

He added that "the school will be a professional business monitored at all times and it won't harm the tranquility of the lake."

Joe said that a bomb scare happened at the Frigate May 8 and he thinks it was related to the school controversy.

A report said the bomb would explode at 11 p.m. and the restaurant was closed while deputies conducted a search. It was reopened at 11:30 p.m.

The group noted that the telephone threats and bomb scare are deplored.

An Arresting Development

Excitement runs high at Sundance Saloon in Ivanhoe as Deano Day (Uncle Deano), right, Chicagoland's leading Country Western 'US99' radio personality is arrested by Lake County Sheriff 'Mickey' Babcox and deputy - all for benefit of Lake County Unit of American Cancer Society. Uncle Deano was first volunteer arrestee for fun fund-raiser, 'Arrest Cancer,' to be held at Lakehurst Mall May 19 through 21 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Deano more than raised his $1,000 'bail' by passing his black hat around.

Young Boy Dies After Father Runs Over Him

The Lake County Coroner will investigate the death May 11 of a young boy on Fairfield Rd. who was run over by a tractor.

Jeremy Frost, 17-months-old, of 36287 N. Fairfield Rd., was struck by the vehicle driven by his father and later died.

He was pronounced dead by a staff doctor at Loyola University Medical Center in Maywood at 7 p.m. May 11.

Chief Willie Smith of the sheriff's office said that his father, Mark Kovach, was loading wood chips when the tragic mishap occurred.

Kovach operates a landscaping business on the northeast corner of Black-cherry and Fairfield.

The youth apparently wandered out the back door of the house and walked into the back of the vehicle which was backing up with a load of wood chips, authorities said.

Kovach reportedly told them that he was backing up after dumping two or three loads of chips into the back of a truck and when he began to back up with another load, he felt a bump.

He then looked to the ground along the left side of the tractor and saw his stricken son.

Jo Garrett, a neighbor, said that she heard a blood-curdling scream when the

Residents Can Speak Out On Gasoline Tax

Illinois Lt. Gov. George Ryan will conduct a public hearing in Waukegan on

Gov. Thompson's motor fuel tax and license plate fee proposals on May 21. The hearing will be at the Waukegan City Hall Council Chambers, 106 N. Utica St., at 7 p.m. Ryan will be joined by transportation secretary Gregory Baise.

The governor's controversial proposals are part of a five-year transportation plan. The proposals that have sparked the hottest debate are:

- a $17 increase in the annual fee for automobile and pickup truck registration and license fees to $65.

- a one-time increase of 30 percent in registration and license plate fees for other trucks

- an increase of 9.5 cents per gallon in motor fuel taxes to be phased in over five years from the present state tax of 13 cents. The tax for the next five years would be: 1988, 18.0 cents; 1989, 19.5 cents; 1990, 20.5 cents; 1991, 21.5 cents; 1992, 22.5 cents.

- an increase to 25 cents per gallon from 15.5 cents per gallon in the tax for diesel fuel.

Name Winners In Big Sweepstakes

An electrical contractor and his wife will enjoy a Windjammer cruise in the Caribbean as grand prize winners in the Prize for Everyone Sweepstakes sponsored by Lakeland Newspapers.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Randy Miller of 30660 Fairfield Rd., Grayslake, rural Fremont Twp.

The Millers purchased their home located on five acres last September after moving from their former home in Glenview. "We were looking for something less crowded and with some acreage," explained Mrs. Miller, a full-time homemaker and mother of three children.

A subscription to the Mundelein News taken out so they could "find out what's going on around here" proved to be a ticket for the Millers to a week's cruise aboard a genuine windjammer where passengers are permitted to help with the sails.

"I'm shocked. This is great," exclaimed Sandy Miller when notified by Publisher William H. Schroeder.

"My father once worked on a sailing ship on the Great Lakes. He'll be excited that we're going aboard a windjammer," remarked Mrs. Miller, who is active in the PTSO at Fremont Consolidated School, attended by their sons, Patrick, 12, and Daniel, nine. They also have a daughter, Jodi, two.

The first prize awards of vacation stays at Fortune Place Condominiums, Florida, were won by Pat Eichhorst, 7615 Wilmot Rd., Spring Grove, and Diana G. Laufer, 17 Sequoia Rd., Hawthorn Woods.

A complete list of major prize winners in the big newspaper contest appears at the end of this article. All major winners will be notified individually.

Publisher Schroeder said that notification of other prizes in the Prize for Everyone Sweepstakes are in the mail. New subscribers and present readers who renewed their subscriptions were eligible. You could also enter by filling out a form at the Lakeland Newspapers headquarters.

Other prizes include canvas tote bags, picnic jugs, free subscriptions and free classified ads.

Schroeder said he will be meeting with the Millers to make arrangements for the cruise. Miller is a partner in a Buffalo Grove electrical contracting firm.

The publisher thanked everyone who entered the contest which kicked off in the winter months.

"It was fun and exciting. This was the biggest contest of its kind ever staged by Lakeland Newspapers," Schroeder stated.

Wedding Romance Returns

Fairy tales will be told anew this summer, according to a survey of bridal gown and wedding authorities.

Handsome princes will meet their glowing princesses at the altars across America with a renewed faith in "happily-ever-after."

The number of brides-to-be searching for the perfect wedding gown has increased considerably over a few years ago, according to Michele Piccione, designer for the prestigious bridal gown house of Alfred Angelo.

"Bridal shops and salons report young women shopping early and with considerable taste," Piccione said. She believes that a new feeling of romance is indicated by the choice of wedding gown styles being selected.

"Women can be women again, and they are choosing styles with feminine touches of embroidery, Alencon lace, delicate chantilly lace and lots of lovely detailing that is both flattering and very, very special."

Skirts and trains are fuller and longer. Bodices are trimmed with lace and can be softly revealing, off-the-shoulder demure.

Sleeves are soft and puffed. Organza and other sheers look prettiest in pure white or the newer antique ivory shadings in these classic ball gowns.

"There is no doubt that the Royal Wedding of 1981 has influenced bridal gown choices.

It is refreshing to know that "weddings are bigger and better than ever." Romance is all about us if we only take the time to notice and acknowledge its warming and gentling presence in our lives. A toast to the bride and groom this summer!

Plant Sale Schedule

The Men's Garden Club of Waukegan will hold its annual spring plant sale May 23-24 at the Waukegan Shopping Plaza, Glenflora and Lewis. The sale gets underway at 7 a.m.

The club held its 27th annual Arbor Day Program April 24 on the campus of the Gavin North School Dist. 37, 37850 N. Highway 59, Lake Villa.

Mel Hall chairs the committee which picked the site and specimen tree, Magnolia Soulangiana, for this event.

Principal Denise M. Nielsen-Hall arranged a student-oriented and participation program. As in the past, several hundred school students and interested area citizens took part in this event.

Court Fails To Halt Business In Wrong Zone

by LARRY WITTEBERT

Note: This is the third article in a series pointing out building and zoning violations.

Even court action failed to shut down a business operating in an agriculturally-zoned area, according to Joe Bogacz, who has lived in the Wauconda Twp. since 1965.

Bogacz, of N. Rt. 12, Round Lake, said that he was fed up with an excavation and sewer construction business operating across from his property so he went to court.

The appellate court finally ruled in his favor, finding that the county failed to provide sanctions against the illegally-operating business.

But the ruling was a hollow victory. All it did was to make Bogacz an intervenor, meaning that he could prosecute the business in court.

He said that he wanted the business to apply for rezoning and to pay for his attorney fees. He did pay for the attorney fees, Bogacz said.

But the county had allowed him to extend the zoning use of his property, provided that he apply for rezoning.

Bogacz said that was in 1980-81 and he has yet to apply for the rezoning.

He added that the business operator "was making all sorts of deals" to keep his business going.

However, neither the county's legal branch nor the building and zoning department could halt the operation.

"There are no sanctions against an illegally-run business," Bogacz said.

Noting background details, he said that the problems originated in 1979. That year, he called the county and informed them that someone was running an illegal business.

Finally, in 1980 an injunction was filed to try to halt the business, but the operator ignored it, Bogacz noted, saying, "nothing was stopped."

He added that at one time, the business was running trucks day and night, and had a lot of equipment piled in the yard. It also stirred up a lot of dust, he said.

The business itself openly advertises with two phone numbers and a sign, but a mound of dirt six-feet tall was built outside.

He also pointed out that no septic system has been approved for the property, yet people gather outside.

But the business in question is not an isolated case, he said, noting that the area from Volo south to Wauconda is a "strip for squatter zoning."

He said that people lease or buy the land and set up business with no action by the county. Trucking businesses, he added, have

"evidently gotten word that it's open season."

In another case, he said that a big shed was built down the street from his property and he tried to check on the permit.

The building and zoning department was unable to find a permit even though Bogacz gave them the address on the mailbox right in front of the shed, he noted.

Schedule Camps

PADDOCK LAKE---The Hoosier School of Basketball will hold a basketball camp for boys and girls at Salem Central High School.

The girls' high school session (grades 10 to 12) will be held June 14 to 18 from 5 to 8:30 p.m. The boys high school session will be held June 14 to 18 from 6 to 9:30 p.m.

ball coach at the University of Evansville, and Ron Felling, assistant coach under Bobby Knight at Indiana University, will be the guest speakers.

Woody Wilson, assistant coach at Evansville, and formerly head coach at Sparta High School, will be camp director.

For further information, contact Kris Allison at Central High School, (414) 843-2321 or Ralph Myers at Paris School, (414) 857-7646.

The cost is $55 for all levels.

Receive Scholarship

Students at Antioch Community High School are recipients of a scholarship for women in non-traditional careers.

The students involved will have an opportunity to explore college credit courses in fields, traditionally dominated by men.

The summer enrichment program is designed to build skills and confidence in math and computer areas by giving the student "hands on" experience in vocational and technical fields.

The names of those students from Antioch are: Julia Rayniak, Chris Kuehn, Kelly Kaiser, Rebecca Weeks, Susan Klemme, Tracy German, Sharen Martiny, Jeanne Marsh, Shondra Appelt, Jill Henriksen, Melissa Brown and Margaret Frayer.

Blood Drive May 13

Central High School Student Council will sponsor a blood drive Wednesday, May 13.

Students and school staff can sign up to donate any time until May 11. This marks the ninth year that the council has sponsored this blood drive.

This year's goal is 125 pledges, and all 17 and 18-year-olds are eligible to donate.

A total of 801 pints have been collected in the previous eight drives.

Museum Has New Program

Third grade students have a new program at the Kenosha County Historical Museum, 6300 3rd Ave. Children learn local history in third grade, and the new program helps introduce them to the community's past.

The program, held in the museum's auditorium, allows children to explore history through objects, models and large graphics. During the sessions, specially trained volunteer help the children discover the county's past.

A leather "pioneer's trunk" is explored. Children remove objects from the trunk that represent what early settlers might have used. A handwoven blanket, a wooden doll, a pierced tin lantern, and hand tools, are some of the items found in the trunk. Woodland Indian objects are also examined.

After the 15-minute exploring session, the students receive a special tour of selected exhibit areas that pertain to the early years of Kenosha.

The Historical Museum also has several other school projects new for 1987. The museum has produced a "Time Traveler Series" leaflets. The four-page leaflets are on different areas of county history, and are filled with photographs, activities, and short text. Traveling object kits are also available for school use. One kit is on Indians, the other on pioneers. The kits have been especially well received by county schools.

The Historical Museum is also participating in a new joint tour with the Public Museum and Kemper Center. Classes participating in this type field trip go to all three places for a special tour. Classes using these joint tours do not have an object session because of time limitations.

Next year the Historical Museum hopes to have a complete "Time Travelers" program for elementary students that will give them special incentives to learn about their community.

For more information call the museum at (414) 654-5770.

County Receives IEPA Grant For Waste Plan Development

Funding for development of an area-wide Solid Waste Management plan became a reality on April 22 when Del Haschemeyer, Deputy Director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, presented a $350,000 grant award to Robert L. Luedtke, chairman of the Lake County Joint Solid Waste Planning Agency.

"This is the largest grant presented so far, as part of the state's new $10 million solid waste management program," Haschemeyer stated. "Lake County is in the forefront of long range solid waste planning. Your agency is looking at the economic, institutional, and environmental requirements for recycling, composting and incineration, as alternatives to landfilling. This is consistent with state policy and we give strong support to your efforts."

Lake County is one of the first counties to receive such a grant. Receipt of the award will postpone any need for additional municipal financial assessments for at least a year, according to Jeff Lind, chairman of the agency's Finance Committee and trustee of Lindenhurst. Governor James Thompson's solid waste management initiative, passed last year, levied a surcharge on landfills throughout the state. It is these funds that support the grant program.

The Lake County Solid Waste Planning Agency represents over 90 percent of Lake County's population. It consists of 26 municipalities and the unincorporated area of the county. The 27-member agency has met monthly since last September. "The members are optimistic about the development of a solid waste system which is in the best interests of Lake County citizens," said Ken Marabella, chairman of the agency's public relations committee and Mundelein village administrator, at the grant award ceremony.

At recent meetings, the agency members have heard experts discuss composting, state-of-the-art landfilling and incineration. According to Verna Clayton, chairman of the technology committee and president of Buffalo Grove, "the final waste system recommended by the agency may consist of several components rather than be one large facility. For example, we are considering a system in which 20 percent of the waste would be recycled or composted."

The agency expects to have a plan by March of 1989.

Implementation authority is the key to successful planning, according to Ed Seidman, chairman of the legislative committee and trustee of Deerfield. "As a result of recent legislation, municipalities have the authority to select sites, build facilities and direct their waste to specific facilities. We have the Solid Waste Advisory Committee to thank for this," Seidman said.

State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) and State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) sponsored the necessary legislation, on behalf of SWAC, in 1985.

The siting committee, chaired by Ed Tomkowiak, president of Wadsworth, is compiling criteria to be used in the siting process. "The Planning Agency will not select sites, but they will develop the framework for the site selection process," Tomkowiak said.

A solid waste implementation agency will be formed through intergovernmental agreement in 1989. It will be their task to select sites and implement the recommendation of the plan. "The system is scheduled to be on line and processing waste by early 1994, approximately two years before landfill space in the county is depleted," Luedtke said.

Luedtke testified on behalf of the agency at the ARF landfill expansion hearing and the Waste Management landfill/incinerator hearing. The agency went on record opposing both of these applications. "The applications were premature and included little or no governmental oversight of operations."

Jim LaBelle, vice chairman of the waste planning agency and former chairman of the county board, said the agency is a shining example of municipalities and the county working together.

"The agency is a first, in terms of true intergovernmental cooperation," said LaBelle. "The cooperative spirit of the agency, its ability to accomplish the very important job of planning and this $350,000 grant give the agency a great deal of credibility."

The agency meets at 7:30 p.m. on the second Thursday of each month at the Libertyville Twp. Hall. Meetings are open to the public.

Risk Increases

As one gets older, regular checkups become increasingly important. Because chances of prostate cancer increase with age, the American Cancer Society recommends a prostate exam as part of regular checkups for men over 50.

THIS WEEK'S

HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: Use your good judgment and intuition now.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) You are full of energy this week, so take advantage of it. It's important, however, that you get your rest at night or you'll deplete your resources too quickly.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Mind your own business, and let your partners take care of their own problems. In the long run, things will work out better. Also, try to lift your spirits.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) You'll get more with honey than with vinegar. If you show more affection toward your loved one you may just get what you want, and the air will be cleared.

Cancer (June 21-July 20) Don't be afraid to ask questions. You're trying to do too much on your own. Listen to the views of someone in the know, and you'll have greater success.

Leo (July 21-Aug. 22) Try not to drive yourself as hard as you've been doing lately. Someone would like to help you if you would let him. You are due for an unexpected invitation.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A perplexing situation may arise so be careful about the way you handle it. Don't come to any permanent decisions too quickly. Take time to plan a budget.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Try to be more interested in the hobbies of others; you may learn you enjoy them. Don't let your emotions get to you now.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Although a change for the better is in store for your financial situation, don't get too excited or you could blow it.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Don't light into someone who has made an honest mistake. You are headed for a quarrel, so do all you can to avoid it. Remain calm and courteous.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The past is holding you back. Place your attention on the future, as hard as it is to let go of what you presently know. Concentrate on your own personal goals and work in that direction.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Let others know of your talents; you won't be recognized until you do. You may not agree with your partner.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Disturbing situations may arise for someone you know, but don't get involved. Concentrate on improving your finances.

If you were born this week, you are the type who must finish whatever you start. Perseverance will bring you the greatest success in life. It is possible for you to go far if you can overcome prejudices.
